MRS. HARRISON.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Mrs. McKee said this morning that Mrs. Harrison had passed a more restful night than any since she was so extremely ill at Loon Lake, and seemed to relish her nourishment this morning, of which she took more than the usual quantity.

Rather risky—the offer that's made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Risky for them. For you, if you have Catarrh, it's a certainty. You're certain to be cured of it, or to be paid $500. That's what they offer, and in good faith—they cure you, or pay you, no matter how bad your case, or of how long standing.

But—is it so much of a risk? They have a medicine that cures Catarrh, not for a time, but for all time. They've watched it for years, curing the most hopeless cases. They know that in your case there's every chance of success, almost no chance of failure.

Wouldn't any one take such a risk with such a medicine?

The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the risk?

If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist fifty cents and the trial begins.

Can you ask more?

Chinese Smugglers in Close Quarters.

Sam Moy's Arrest by Detroit Officials

Has Caused a Big Sensation in Chicago.

Hustling Around to Secure a Bail Bond.

Every Evidence That a Big Syndicate is Operating to Defeat the Exclusion Law's Intent.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Sam Moy's arrest at Detroit on the charge of smuggling Chinamen into the United States stirred up the Chinese quarter yesterday.

Groups of prominent celestials gathered about the store of the merchant and discussed the matter.

Moy Tung Cheu, generally known as Hip Lung, a cousin of Sam Moy, and Chow Tai, head man of the firm of Bow Wo Fung, were hustling all day to secure sureties for the $5,000 bond that Commissioner Graves of Detroit requires for releasing Sam Moy.

At a late hour his visitors were still on the hunt.

At Sam Moy's place of business the arrest caused much excitement. Sam's brother talked freely of the affair and declared that the arrested merchant was engaged in no unlawful business. He expected that the First National bank would arrange about the bond.

Moy was in Chicago Tuesday last. On that day he visited District Attorney Milchrist and asked many questions about the penalties for violating the exclusion law. He said he was going to Detroit to aid in securing the release of some of his countrymen who were under arrest there for having been smuggled into the states.

That a syndicate exists for the purpose of smuggling Chinamen into the states, and that it has a branch in Chicago, the government officials say they have no doubt.

KEEP UP THE WORK.

In Time of Health Prepare for Sickness.

Eminent Doctors Say the Work of Cleaning the Cities Should Be Kept Up.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Although the advent of cooler weather will operate against the spread of cholera, even should there be any sporadic cases in the east, it will nevertheless be advisable for towns and villages which have the work of sanitation under progress to continue their operations.

So, at least, say eminent physicians and sanitarians both of this city and New York. The next six months, they say, are to be regarded as so much vantage time, a kind of breathing spell within which the work of sanitation can be pushed forward without immediate fear of the near approach of the plague.

That the New York authorities have so far been fairly successful in keeping it out of the country is no guarantee that it will not make its apperance next spring.

If the work of sanitation, however, is vigorously pushed forward during the cold weather the probability of a visitation in every locality where time has been taken by the fore-lock will be proportionately lessened.

A RECEPTION

Tendered to Grover Cleveland in New York.

Many Men Prominent in Politics Call on Their Chieftain.

New York, Sept. 30.—Callers began to arrive early at the Victoria hotel and kept coming all day to greet Grover Cleveland. Most of the members of the democratic national campaign committee are in the city, and this afternoon all the members of the state committee will be here. Nearly all of them will see Mr. Cleveland during the day.

Shortly before 10 a. m. ex-Mayor Grace called at the hotel and remained closeted with Mr. Cleveland for fully an hour.

Shortly after the ex-mayor's arrival, Don M. Dickinson of the democratic national campaign committee, went up to Mr. Cleveland's room. It is understood that the local situation and the proposition to run an independent local democratic ticket was discussed. Mr. Grace, however, when asked by a reporter of the United Press if it was true that the conference had relation to the nominating of a third local ticket, said that the local situation was not mentioned, adding: "I would not embarrass Mr. Cleveland by asking him to express an opinion as to a third ticket."

Many members of the state committee are in town. The committee will meet at the Hoffman house to-night to nominate a candidate for the office of chief judge of the court of appeals.

The members of the committee were loth to be quoted as to whose nomination they favored, but some of them admitted that Judge Peckham would probably get the nomination.

It was stated that the stay of Mr. Cleveland in town would be short and that he would return to Buzzard's Bay next week to bring his family here.

SCHOONER RELEASED.

Ottawa, Ont. Sept. 30.—The government has ordered the release of the fishing schooner Hattie Maud, of Portland, Me., which was seized at Grand Manan a few weeks ago, it having been shown that since the offense the schooner had changed hands and her present owners were in total ignorance of her being liable to seizure for having contravened the fishery laws of Canada.

FREIGHT WRECK.

Boston, Sept. 30.—The fifth section of the freight train No. 256 eastbound on the Fitchburg railroad, broke apart at Waltham at 3:30 this morning and a bad wreck was the result, blocking both tracks.

Six or seven cars were smashed and the wreckage is piled twenty feet high.

AT QUARANTINE.

Quarantine, Sept. 30.—The Hamburg-American steamer Gothia from Stettin arrived this morning with a cargo and no passengers. All were well on board.

The Buffalo, of the Wilson line, from London, also arrived early this morning. She brought thirty passengers. All well.

ITALIAN PROTEST.

People Not Properly Treated in Brazil.

Rome, Sept. 30.—A delegation of Italian citizens from Rio Janeiro have presented to the foreign office a protest against the treatment accorded them by the Brazilian police. The protest was signed by thousands.

While directed especially against the police the protest also recites that the courts and government officials in Brazil persistently ignore the rights of Italian residents and deny them redress when they complain of abuses inflicted upon them. M. Valperi, proprietor of the Rome Journal in Rio Janeiro, claims an indemnity of 250,000 lire from the Brazilian government and several others claim 100,000 each. In view of the prosecution to which they have been subjected. Signor Brin has promised to investigate the complaints.

SWEENEY KNOCKED OUT.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 30.—Frank Sweeney, grand chief of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association, was defeated by the convention for re-election. John G. Wilson of LaCrosse, Wis., who served on the executive board the past year, was elected in his stead after an exciting contest. The knock-out of Sweeney, who conducted the Buffalo strike, was in the nature of a surprise to that gentleman and his friends. Evansville, Ind., was selected as the place for the next annual meeting.

POWDER EXPLOSION.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—A dispatch from Berwin to the Inquirer, says: A terrible shock felt within a radius of four miles yesterday proved to be a blast at Dyer's quarry and crusher works, Homeville, Chester county. Andrew Carson and an Italian were killed and five others seriously injured. Carson had drilled three holes and while charging them with dynamite the jar of his bar caused the explosion.

AT NORWALK.

Pretty Wedding in the Maple City.

Who Were There and How the Bride Was Attired—Personal.

Norwalk, O., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The wedding of Mr. Charles Brown Stowe, of Cleveland, and Miss Franc Autosmith Cary, sister of Mrs. C. H. Stewart, of this city, Wednesday night at St. Paul's Episcopal church, was the most stylish and fashionable event that has occurred in our city for some time.

Over 400 guests were invited and the church was filled with beauty and fashion. The decorations at church and at Mr. Stewart's, where the reception was held, were beautiful, being pink and white.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of brocaded satin, entraine, with pearl trimmings, and diamond ornaments. Miss Mabel Robinson, of East Orange, N. J., was maid of honor, while Miss Rose Lewis, of Cleveland, and Miss Maud Graham, of this city, acted as bridesmaids with J. M. Stannard, of Chicago, and G. Ben Hoyt, of Cleveland, attendants. Charles B. Williams, of Cleveland, was the groom's best man. Misses Olive Stewart, of this city, and Helen Coghlin, of Toledo, were flower girls, while Miss Abbie Stewart carried the bride's boquet. The ushers were Sam M. Williams of Cleveland, John A. Stratton, George S. Stewart and Charles A. Paul of this city.

An elegant reception was tendered the bridal couple at the residence of C. H. Stewart, West Main street. Bride and groom went to Chicago, Colorado Springs and other western cities. Among the guests from Toledo were Mrs. John Coghlin and daughter, Mrs. T. C. Stevens and Ralph P. Wickham.

Wm. R. Swartz, a brother of Mrs. Rev. Henry W. Jones, of this city, died at her home in Philadelphia. Mrs. Jones has gone to Philadelphia to attend the funeral.

Senator Sherman was in the city last night and stopped at the St. Charles hotel, where he was serenaded and tendered an informal reception by the young men's republican club. He spoke this afternoon at North Fairfield.

Secretary Feeley, of the Y. M. C. A., invited the various committees in charge of Y. M. C. A. work to the rooms for consultation regarding coming work, and the party were served with a delightful repast in the way of refreshments.

Mrs. Malcolm Patrick and Mrs. H. W. Patrick, of this city, and Mrs. Theo C. Stevens, of Toledo, give a progressive euchre party this evening.

Mrs. Sampson Gray and Mrs. Harriet E. Roe give a tea this afternoon.

Mrs. A. J. Minard and son Fred have returned to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Patterson and daughter have returned to their home in Denver, Col. Mrs. Patterson's mother, Mrs. S. G. Brown, returned with them, where she will reside.

Mrs. Anna C. Little, who came north to attend the last illness of her father, the late W. R. Little, returned yesterday to her home in Atlanta, Ga.

Frank Sawyer, jr., and wife will shortly move to Sandusky.

C. L. White has been elected captain of Company G, Fifth O. N. G., to succeed C. H. Stewart, resigned. F. W. Christian elected first lieutenant and Sergeant C. W. Beirs second lieutenant.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Norwalk, O., Sept. 30.—Election held for captain of Company G, Fifth regiment, O. N. G., in place of C. H. Stewart, resigned, C. L. White was chosen. F. W. Christian, second lieutenant, was made first lieutenant. First Sergeant C. M. Beers was elected second lieutenant.

KESSINGER IS APPOINTED.

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—Henry Kessinger, department commander of the G. A. R. at Dayton, came here in answer to a summons. He returned bearing the commission by Labor Commissioner Lewis, as superintendent of the Dayton Free Employment Agency.

TYPHOID FEVER.

Lewes, Del., Sept. 30.—Three of the crew of the British steamer Twickenham, now at the breakwater for orders, with a cargo of sugar from Havana, are down with typhoid fever. The vessel is in quarantine and will be fumigated to-day and probably released soon.

SHE'S OUT ON BOND.

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 30.—The two children of Charles Billups, who were shot by Mrs. James Pike, on Fudge creek, are yet alive, but one of them is sinking rapidly. The Pike woman was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000.

CHOPPED TO DEATH.

A Veteran of the War Killed in New York.

His Companion Placed Under Arrest Suspected of the Crime.

New York, Sept. 30.—Frank Paulson, aged 55 years, and a veteran of the war, was found dead in his room last night, the victim of a most brutal and revolting murder.

Charles Knoch, a former associate of the murdered man, who frequently visited him at his boarding house, No. 139 Hester street, was arrested on suspicion.

He is a tall and powerful man, whose dress coincides with the description given by the murdered man's landlady of a man whom she saw running from the house a few moments before the discovery of the crime.

No motive can be ascribed for the act, as none of the murdered man's effects had been disturbed. The crime yas apparently committed with an axe or an adze.

FROM FIRE ISLAND.

Alleged Attempts to Burn the Hotel.

Exciting Night on the Guard Line.

Bulletins From the Places Where the Cholera Still Exists.

Fire Island, Sept. 30.—The provisional battalion, consisting of detachments from the Fourteenth and Forty-seventh regiments, N. G. S., New York, had a very busy and intensely exciting time last night. Two shots were fired by the sentries at persons who refused to pay any attention to their challenges. One intruder was arrested at 11 o'clock and lodged in the guard house. The man refused to impart any information concerning himself or his mission except that he was connected with the life station. An investigation will be held this afternoon. Shortly after midnight another shot was heard in the vicinity of the Surf hotel, where post No. 3 was stationed. It was an exposed part of the building and the structure at this point is composed largely of lattice work. The officers think that if any designs were entertained by the bay men or villagers to fire the building this would be the spot that they were most likely to select. The soldier who fired the shot says two strange men were challenged and that they took to their heels. The sentry then fired at their fleeing forms. Lieut.-Col. Clobridge is much puzzled and annoyed at these nocturnal visits. He cannot explain what is meant by them and does not know whether the men are bay men or not. He says, however, that he hopes to fathom the affair before breaking camp. Small detachments of men are expected from the Fourteenth and Forty-seventh regiments to relieve some of the men who must return to their bridge. There is, as yet, considerable uncertainty as to how long the troops will remain here.

Havre, Sept. 30.—There were three new cases and six deaths from cholera yesterday.

Odessa, Sept. 30.—Official announcement has been made that there were ten cases of cholera and four deaths from the disease in this city between September 23 and 28.

Quarantine, Sept. 30.—There were no new cases of cholera on any of the ships held in quarantine up to noon to-day.

The Hermann, which was released by Dr. Jenkins several days ago, is still at anchor off Stapleton, waiting for a release from the treasury department.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Narrow Escape of Many Workingmen.

A Natural Gas Explosion Adds to the Damage Done.

Pittsburg, Sept. 30.—At 6:10 o'clock this morning just after the night turn had left the mill and before the day turn had reported for work, two large boilers in the Carbon Iron works, at Thirty-second and Smallman streets, exploded with terrific force, scattering sections of the boilers, bricks, etc., throughout the mill in which several hundred men are employed during working hours. The mill was also filled with scalding steam and natural gas which escaped from the broken pipes and then exploded, causing nearly as much damage to building and machinery as did the collapse of the boilers.

The damage to the works will aggregate several thousand dollars. No one was killed, and so far as is now known no person was seriously injured. The narrow escape from a terrible calamity is remarkable.

BURNING OIL.

Sistersville, W. Va., Sept. 30.—The storage tanks of the Eureka Pipe Line company at this place caught fire last night and five thousand barrels of oil were destroyed. Chief Engineer Davis, of Mercer, Pa., was on one of the tanks and was burned to death, and Foreman A. V. Japoole, of Belmont, W. Va., was blown nearly 100 feet and may die. Several other men were slightly injured. Several oil derricks and much other property were destroyed.

FOR CONGRESS.

Bowling Green Ready for the Convention.

J. W. Canary, L. C. Cole and Frank Baldwin Are Possible Candidates.

Bowling Green, Sept. 30.—(Special)—The Green is already preparing for the congressional convention which will be held here next Tuesday at Hankey's opera house.

Wood county has no candidate for congressional honors, although the names of J. W. Canary, L. C. Cole and Frank Baldwin have been mentioned.

Baldwin would make a winning fight in Wood. When he ran for the legislature here a year ago he came within 38 votes of being elected in a county that is generally good for 300 republican majority.

The old fight between the republican factions is again on. The Hankey-James-Poe crowd are on top just now, with the Sentinel clique, as it is called, battling for their dear lives.

There is no love for Ashley in Wood and the farmers particularly are very bitter against him.

The friends of Dr. Lincoln are still sore and while some of them will vote for the party nominee none of them will go out of their way to help him.

What with the local faction fight and the opposition to Ashley there is no reason why any good democrat cannot carry Wood this trip.

Wood looks to Lucas for a candidate, although the place need not go a-begging, as there is plenty of good congressional timber up here.

LOST HIMSELF.

New York, Sept. 30.—Dr. John Kertell, a German physician of some note, who landed at Hoboken from the steamship Rugia two weeks ago, is missing and as he is said to have had some $15,000 in his possession, the police of this city and Hoboken fear the gentleman has met with disaster.

FOR THE FAIR.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Advices from Honolulu by the steamer Alameda this morning state that the government has finally decided to make no exhibit at the Columbian exposition, but instead has appropriated $12,000 for sending a Hawaiian band to Chicago.

FOUR DEATHS.

Vienna, Sept. 30.—There were four deaths from cholera and three new cases at Cracow, Austrian Poland, yesterday.

HOTEL BLAZE.

Disastrous Conflagration at Bryan, O.

Bryan, O., Sept. 30.—(Special)—The Brunswick hotel was discovered in flames this morning at 4 o'clock, and before aid could be called was completely destroyed. The blaze started in the kitchen and spread all over the house, and also destroyed the barn.

The insurance is light and the loss about $4,000.

ON FIRE AT SEA.

A Tank Steamer Saved From Destruction.

Liverpool, Sept. 30.—The British steamer Highland Chief, at this port from Buenos Ayres, reports that on September 28, in latitude 51 north, longitude 7 west, she met the British tank steamer Bayonne which was then on fire. A part of the latter's crew had already taken to the boats. The British steamer Nicaragnan was near at hand, but at the request of the Bayonne the Highland Chief waited till the fire was quenched. While she was standing by, a boat was swamped and five persons were drowned. The Bayonne sailed from Philadelphia September 15 for Avonmouth.

THEY USED POWDER.

Attempt to Blow Up a Canadian Farmer.

Robbery Was Evidently the Object As the Victim Was Wealthy.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—A diabolical wholesale murder and robbery was attempted at Grand Range, three miles from this city, at 2 a. m. yesterday.

Grand Range is an extensive farm in the suburbs, owned by Ferdinand Bigras, a wealthy farmer of Laval county.

The manor house was occupied by him, his brother Eli, his mother, a servant and two children.

At the hour named all were sleeping. Bigras was awakened by a terrific explosion to find the house crumbling about him. He escaped to find it a complete ruin.

Neighbors, aroused by the explosion, came to his assistance and the other members of the family were rescued alive from the ruins, none being fatally injured. An earthquake was first thought of, but daylight showed the house had been blown up by gunpowder or dynamite. The farmer was currently reported to have a large sum of money in the house.

WON BY THE LIBERALS.

Another Victory in South Bedfordshire.

Whitbread Elected After a Long Struggle—The Irish Question.

London, Sept. 30.—The election in South Bedfordshire to the seat made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Cyril Flower to a peerage, has resulted in a liberal victory, Mr. Whitbread, the liberal candidate receiving 4,838 votes to 4,596 for Col. Duke, liberal unionist.

In the late general election Mr. Cyril Flower, liberal, received 5,296 votes to 4,277 for Col. Duke.

A great deal of bitterness was shown in the contest just closed, and women, young and middle-aged, took an active part on both sides.

Major Cooper, lord of the manor of Toddington, near Luton, the chief town of the constituency, claimed that the green at Toddington was private property and tried to prevent the liberals from assembling there.

They held a meeting on the green, notwithstanding. The home rule van made a seven days round of the constituency and the contest was largely fought on the Irish question. The liberals are therefore deeply gratified with the result.

TWO MURDERERS.

Ranchmen Shot Down by Highwaymen.

The Two Criminals Pursued by a Posse and Landed in Jail.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 30.—Joseph Koon and Charles Mosely, two prominent ranchmen living near St. Heidery, of this county, were murdered Wednesday by two Mexican cowboys named Sixto Flores and Patricio Lopez.

Koon and Mosely were on their way to St. Heidery when they were waylaid by the two Mexicans and both shot down and robbed of a small amount of money.

The murderers, immediately after committing the crime, started for the Rio Grande border. They were overtaken at Stockade by a posse of officers and both were lodged in jail. There was considerable talk of lynching the men, and had it not been that the jail was well guarded an attempt would have been made.

Koon and Mosely were very popular and their friends are greatly excited over the assassination.

AMONG THE OMAHOGS.

Boodlers Having a Warm Time of It in Court.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 30.—The session last night of the special city council committee investigating charges of boodle in connection with the construction of the new city hall ended in riotous fashion.

Mayor Bemis, on the witness stand, refused to say who it was that told him the architect of the city hall, Blendorff, had paid $2,000 to defeat Lininger, republican candidate for mayor two years ago, and also refused to give names of parties who had said the present committee was a whitewash affair.

The committee insisted that the mayor should give names and was told by the chairman that he was plain Mr. Bemis on the witness stand, and not the mayor.

City Attorney Connell coming to the mayor's aid was called a liar by a councilman.

They were prevented from fighting by the chairman. Great disorder prevailed and bitter accusations were made by members against the attorney and the mayor.

The latter finally called the police, who ordered those present to disperse, but no arrests were made.

ALLEN G. THURMAN.

He Says Cleveland Will Be Elected.

The Dullest Campaign He Has Ever Known—Force Bill Condemned.

New York, Sept. 30.—A special to the World from Columbus, O., gives an interview with Allen G. Thurman, in which he says the speech of Senator Hill gives Cleveland the assured support of Tammany, which means that he will carry New York and ventures his opinion that he will be elected.

He characterizes the campaign as the dullest he has ever known and denounces the force bill as a damnable measure which should be defeated.

HIGH ENOUGH.

New York, Sept. 30.—The eastern and western agents of the anthracite coal producing companies met to-day and decided to make no advance in the October schedule of prices.

SHERMAN IN OHIO.

He Opens the Republican Campaign

By a Speech to the Farmers at Fairfield.

The Mansfield Sage Greeted With Hearty Cheers by the Assembled Thousands.

North Fairfield, O., Sept. 30.—Senator Sherman's speech in this old village off the line of any railroad, was an event designed especially for the farmers.

It was an all-day farm festival, with political sauce, and it called out all the leading republicans of Huron county.

There is much curiosity about the result to follow the speech, because the congressional contest in this district is very bitter, and while strongly republican, there is some fear that M. D. Harter may endanger the election of E. G. Johnson, the republican candidate. Johnson's bitter abuse of Sherman in the editorial columns of his paper before and after the senatorial contest is still being discussed.

The weather is delightful and the attendance large. When the senator arose to speak he was greeted by wild cheers from the crowd.

CATHOLICS IN CANADA.

A Weighty Question for Parliament to Handle.

The School Subject Cannot Be Dodged Again by the Members.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 30.—The government has received a memorial from Archbishop Tache of the Manitoba diocese, asking that the previous petitions from the heirarchy, requesting relief for the Catholic minority in Manitoba be considered, now that the imperial privy council in the highest court in the empire has maintained the constitutionality of the law abolishing separate schools in Manitoba.

When the question came up in the dominion parliament the government was glad to escape the responsibility of deciding it, by referring it to the privy council and quieted the clamor on both sides by announcing that the costs of appeal would be borne by Canada.

Now the matter looms up again and will doubtless cause a division in the cabinet unless some loophole is discovered.

It will no doubt have an important bearing on the succession to the premiership as Sir John Thompson, who is looked upon as the coming man, is a Catholic and will no doubt side with his co-religionists.

He will have to meet the strong opposition of Ontario's representatives, who were kept in the background during the reference to the privy council, but will now come to the front again backed by members of parliament not in the cabinet who will urge them to resist the appeals and allow no interference in the prairie province.

The Catholics of Manitoba are backed by the French of both parties in Quebec. Of course the law must stand, as there is no legal report beyond the privy council and politicians are anxious to see how the government will move in this weighty matter.

Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Corn shippers were seeking boats freely this morning, but the movement of wheat is at a standstill. Rates held steady at 2c for corn to Buffalo.

Duluth.

Cleveland.

Cleveland, Sept. 30.—Eighty cents was paid this morning on three boats to take ore from Escanaba to Buffalo, but there is plenty of tonnage for Ohio ports at 75c. Ashland shippers still refuse to accept $1.25 as the rate, but they are getting no tonnage.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, Sept. 30.—Coal freights are strong and quiet with talk of advance in Lake Michigan rates. Boats willing to go to Lake Superior for 25c are scarce. Chartered: Cahoon, Milwaukee, 55c. Custom house statistics show receipts for September over 20,000,000 bushels grain; 1,300,000 barrels of flour and shipments 337,000 tons of coal.

GEN. STEVENSON AT HOME.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 30.—Gen. Stevenson and his wife arrived here yesterday from Shelbyville, Ind., having been away from the city sixteen days. Mr. Stevenson made one speech in Kentucky, one in Tennessee, several in North Carolina and two in Virginia. With the exception of Sunday and one week day he spoke on the average twice each day. He spent the entire day yesterday over his accumulated correspondence.

PACED A MILE IN 2:04.

Wonderful Work on the Terre Haute Track.

Standing of the Clubs in the Big League.

General Sporting News of Interest to All Readers of the Bee.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 30.—For the second time this week the 2:05 mark has been beaten in harness over the track here, the pacer Mascot putting in a heat yesterday afternoon exactly in the same notch that Nancy Hanks touched when she trotted in 2:04. As the gelding did this in a race, starting from the outside the performance surpasses that of the Kentucky mare in point of merit, and one of the quarters was a trifle faster, when Mascot stepped from the half to the third gold-tipped post in 29 1-8 seconds. The effort told on him so much that he did not get another heat of the free-for-all pace, and Flying Jib, who carried the new champion along, was also defeated for the same reason.

The pair went lapped to the quarter in 32 1-2 seconds and at the half in 1.03 1-2. Mascot drew away a little. The Californian closed from there and the clip became terrific. The three-quarters were passed in 1:33, or a 1:58 clip, and Flying Jib was at Mascot's shoulder when he finished in 2:04. This is three seconds below the race record for any kind of a track, and placed the Buffalo flyer equal with Nancy Hanks herself.

The second heat was also sensational but rated differently, Flying Jib carrying Mascot to the quarter in :33 3-4 seconds and the half in 1:00 3-4. To come up the hill at a two-minute gait tired the pair, but Jib had enough left to outfinish the other gelding in 2:05 3-4. Meanwhile McHenry had been laying Guy up to the flag, and cutting him loose in the third heat had the faster pair at his mercy.

Flying Jib made the gray stallion pace the third heat in 2:06 3-4, and the fourth in 2:08 3-4. Mascot then tried to redeem himself, and was closing on Guy in the last quarter of the fifth hea twhen he rushed to the pole so that Andrews could not pull him out in time to overhaul the leaders. Guy was under the whip, but came home resolutely in 2:08 1-4, making fiv eheats that paralyze all previous averages in a race, the rate being 2:06 13-20. There is little doubt if the judges had forced McHenry to drive Guy for every heat he would have been unable to win the race.

Another pacer entered the 2:10 list when Vinette got the first heat of the 2:13 class in 2:09 1-4, but the mare was unsteady after that and Cleveland S. carried off the money. The 2:28 trot was a soft thing for Chiquerette, the handsome mare reducing her record in each heat till it is now 2:16 3-4. The 2:22 trot brought out more speed, Major, a big gelding in Doble's stable, getting below 2:15 twice, while Edith Sprague took the second heat in 2:15 3-4, when Major lost his stride. There was only daylight enough for one heat of the 2:20 pace, the favorite, Flowing Tide, getting this in moderate time. The horses scored up again, but were so unsteady that they delayed matters till it was too dark to start them. To-morrow ends the meeting with fiveclasses, including the free-for-all trot in which Little Albert, Charleston and other cracks are named. The attendance to-day was even larger than on Wednesday. Nancy Hanks was led down the stretch between heats. Doble is away at vansville, where he drove Martha Wilkes in the free-for-all.

Lima, O., Sept. 30.—A game of base ball was played here yesterday between the Celina and Columbus Grove clubs for the amateur championship of western Ohio. About 300 of the friends and admirers of each club came with them, and 1,000 people witnessed the game. The clubs were evenly matched. The batteries were: For Celina, Owens and Rupert; for Columbus Grove, Wallace and Showles. In the first half of the seventh inning, after Celina had scored one run, Frank Wallace, the Columbus Grove pitcher, was throwing a very swift inshoot when his arm broke between the shoulder and elbow. Two doctors took charge of him and brought him to the city. The club having no extra pitcher, the umpire called the game back to the sixth inning, with a score of 6 to 5 in favor of Celina, thus giving them the championship. Wallace is but 19 years of age and was a most promising pitcher.

New York, Sept. 30.—Frank Ives, champion billiardist of the world, has arrived from Europe. Speaking of his differences with Schafer he said: "I did all in my power to get on a match with Jake for the emblem, but could not. As the champion I have the right under the rules to name the time and place for playing the game. Before going to Europe I named July 25 in Paris for the game and Schafer agreed. But when we got there he wanted to play at Vignaux's academy. I wanted to play at the Folliesbergere. We could not agree and I then offered to play him at any other room in Paris on neutral ground, but to this he would not consent. He then claimed the emblem and the forfeit money on a technicality, namely, that July 25 was later than 60 days after the previous match was played in Chicago May 21. I hold that Schaefer, in agreeing to play me in Paris on July 25, waived whatever rights he might have had under the 60 days' rule, and that therefore I am the rightful owner of the emblem. At any rate I am ready to play Schaefer at any time on neutral ground."

FIFTY-SIX ROUNDS.

Result of the Smith-Siddons Battle.

The Referee Took a Hand in the Contest and Reserved His Decision.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Sol Smith, of Los Angeles, champion bantam of the Pacific coast, and George Siddons, of New York, fought last evening at the California club. Both weighed 120 pounds. The purse was $2,500. The club will endeavor to arrange a match between the winner and George Dixon. Smith sold favorite in the pools at 2 to 1.

In the first round very little fighting was done, the men sizing each other up.

In the second Smith rushed Siddons all over the ring, landing right and left swings. In the third Siddons fought Smith to a standstill. Matters even.

In the fourth Smith rushed after Siddons, but was unable to land a good blow.

In the fifth, sixth and seventh rounds Siddons managed to even matters up a bit. Smith did all the fighting, Siddons ducking and keeping away. In the eighth round Siddons landed a good right on Smith's jaw. In the ninth round there was slow fighting. Siddons landed a good right as the round closed. There was not much fighting in the tenth round. Round eleven was tame.

In the twelfth there was terrific infighting. Both landed hard blows. Siddons countered heavily. Honors were about even.

From the thirteenth to the sixteenth rounds there was good hot fighting. Smith continued his rushes. Siddons kept away and frequently countered.

From the seventeenth to the twenty-first rounds it was a walk around. In the twenty-second there was good fist fighting. Smith rushed and landed several good rights. Siddons fought him to a standstill.

At the end of the fifty-sixth round the referee stopped the fight and reserved his decision. The men were then walking around each other doing nothing. The fight was considerable of a disappointment. Smith's friends had confidently expected to see him win in short order. Siddons was severely punished about the body, but his coolness and superb foot work saved him. Smith wore himself out rushing the plucky New Yorker.

THE BIG SEARCH LIGHT.

It Is Ready To Be Put in Position.

The Statute of Liberty Is At Last to Shed Its Light on the Waters.

Middletown, Conn., Sept. 30.—The finishing touches are being given to the big search light ordered in the treasury department some time ago, and it will be ready for delivery on Monday. It will be placed in the statue of Liberty in New York harbor, and will be the largest and most powerful search light in the world. It will be visible for one hundred miles, and capable of transmitting messages the entire distance. It is of fifty thousand candle power, and the mechanism is so delicate that it can be adjusted with as much ease as that of a stem winding watch.

WILL BE INTERESTING.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Editor Purcell appeared in police court this morning to answer to the charge of criminal libel against Forsyth, republican candidate for district attorney. Counsel for Mr. Purcell said he assumed full responsibility for the charges and would prove them. The case was adjourned until next Thursday.

WOOD COUNTY FAIR.

Immense Crowds Present To-Day and Yesterday.

The Races Are Excellent and Largely Attended.

Toledo Is Well Represented on the Grounds—Notes and Comments on the Crowd and Fair in General.

Bowling Green, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The third day of the great fair opens auspiciously. The crowd seems to be even greater than yesterday, and the flower and chivalry of Wood county is present en masse.

This year the company which controls and operates this periodical exhibition, started free of debt after a long fight under a heavy load, and when the fair closes Saturday night it is anticipated that the company will be several thousand dollars on the right side.

The weather has been all that could be desired. Warm without being too hot or oppressive and with breeze enough to make it pleasant in the sunshine.

Oldtimers who have visited the Wood county fair for years say that this is the best in its history. The exhibitors, which are mostly confined to Wood county, deserve credit for the excellent display, and the exhibits, one and all, are a credit to the county.

The Races.

The free-for-all pace was the greatest event on the racing program and Lucy B., owned and driven by George H. Ketcham, made a gallant fight for first place, but was outclassed by Flannigan, grey gelding.

In the first heat Flannigan's driver ran into Lucy B., throwing out the latter's driver and injuring him somewhat.

In the first heat Lucy B. came near distancing both competitors and could have done it had Mr. Ketcham so desired.

In the second Flannigan, of Bowling Green, drove his own horse and won in a smart tussle with Lucy B., Dick B. being a poor third.

In the third heat it was a neck and neck race between Lucy B. and Charlie P., and the latter won by less than a length.

The best time ever made on the track was that in the second heat of this race.

Summary:

Charlie P., g. g.	2	1	1	1
Lucy B., b. m.	1	2	2	2
Dick B., b. g.	3	3	3	3

Time—2:26 1-4, 2:19 3-4, 2:21, 2:20.

In the three-minute trot there were seven entries and five starters. Newton's Sabra K. was drawn, while Wonder and West Wilkes were distanced in the first heat. In the second Atlantic King won hands down, but was not in it afterwards.

Summary:

Velvet Star, b. s.	1	2	1	1
Atlantic King, b. m.	2	1	2	2
Oscar, b. g.	3	3	3	3
Wonder S.	dis.
West Wilkes, blk. s.	dis.

Time—2:44 1-4, 2:40 3-4, 2:39 1-2, 2:37 1-2.

During an intermission James Martin, of Toledo, and Robt. Simons, of Bowling Green, ran a 100-yard foot race for $100 a side. After innumerable attempts to get a fair start the men got off together and Martin won by a foot.

A balloon ascension was another attraction that filled up between acts, and the descent was watched with the keenest interest by the immense crowds.

The running race was a quiet affair. There were four starters and Royal V. had pretty nearly a walk-away. There was no betting and therefore but little interest. Summary:

Royal V., s. g.	1	1
Bob O'Link, s. g.	2	3
Major Thomas, o. g.	4	2
St. Charles, b. s.	3	4

Time—:52 1-4, :52.

In the pony race, to which a great deal of local interest was attracted, there were six starters and it was go-as-you-please from the start.

It was left unfinished owing to the lateness of the hour. Summary:

Jim Taylor	1
White Stockings	2
Brown Jim	3
White Foot	4
Birdie	5
Billy	6

Time—:58.

The races this afternoon includes a 3:00 trot, a 2:30 pace, a running race and the unfinished pony race. There are some good entries and keen contests are expected in every event.

The Wonderful No. 9.

The representatives of the live sewing machine man, Mr. A. Austin, are on hand displaying the merits of the wonderful No. 9 family sewing machine.

Mr. H. Erkine has charge of the exhibit and is assisted by Mr. D. G. Jeffery, of Cygnet, Mr. Lewis Kinley, of Waterville, Mr. John Ault, of Bradner, and Mrs. Pelton, of Toledo. As usual the No. 9 received first premium. A. Austin is the man to buy sewing machines of, wholesale and retail. You will find him, 317 Adams street, Toledo, Ohio.

Wednesday's Proceedings.

Bowling Green, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The opening day of the eleventh annual exhibition given under the auspices of the Wood County Fair company, was a success in point of fine weather and large attendance.

The pretty burg has put on her Sunday dress and is entertaining her visitors well. The exhibits both in cattle and in agricultural produce are excellent and nothing has been left undone to make this fair a success.

The main hall or pavilion is replete with works of art and the agricultural department is an imposing monument to the prosperity and progress of the farming element of Wood county.

Toledo is well represented and at every turn one meets some well-known Toledoan. Toledo is well-represented in the racing and George H. Ketcham's fine stock of horses, including the famous Baronstein, has well equipped quarters on the grounds.

The hotels, and particularly the Ross are so crowded that they are obliged to turn guests away.

There is more real push and energy in this town than in Toledo in proportion to its population. Every citizen is proud of the Green, and deservedly so, for it is undoubtedly one of the handsomest towns in northwestern Ohio.

The people as a whole take the greatest interest in all things pertaining to the welfare of the town and no better evidence of this is given than their patronage of the fair this season.

The Races.

The races Wednesday were well patronized notwithstanding the fact that it was the first day, and first days are never considered the finest or best.

In the 3-year-old trot Nyanza, Geo. H. Ketcham's excellent little mare, had it all her own way. She was obliged to wait for her companions in the first heat, and this accounts for the slowness of the record made. In the second and third Senator and Salisbury, two horses which made records at the Toledo races, were not in it at any stage of the game.

Following is the summary:

3-year-old trot, purse $300:

Nyanza	1	1	1
Senator	2	2	2
Saulsbury	3	3	3

Time, 3:03, 2:31, 2:30.

2:30 trot, purse $300:

In this race the game little animal that won an easier contest at Toledo won the three heats hands down. Summary:

2:30 trot, purse $300:

Tempest	1	1	1
Red Cedar	2	2	2
Nellie S.	3	3	3

Time, 2:31, 2:32, 2:32 1-2.

In the 2-year-old trot it was a go-as-you-please for any of the entries. There were a large number of entries, but Troas ran away from the field and nearly all the rest were either drawn or distanced. It is hardly fair to put any of these horses on record, but the following is their record, 2-year-old:

Troas	1	1
Buckeye Pride	2	2
Pat Mollory	dis
Butter Boy	dis
Maude H.	rd
Fred	dis

Orney Tom ruled out.

Time, 3:16, 3:20.

As will be seen, Toledo is represented by two horses in to-day's races.

Notes.

To-day is the kind of a day for the fair.

Toledo people are thick on the ground to-day.

Peanuts, popcorn and gingerbread are all here.

There are some very fine paintings in the art hall.

The "standing room only" sign was out at noon to-day.

Loomis & Marble have a very fine exhibit of carriages.

The judges are awarding prizes in the various departments.

A. Farnsworth carries off the prize for largest display of fruit.

No accidents reported so far. That shows good management.

John E. Gunckel was here hustling for the Lake Shore yesterday.

J. M. and A. T. Raymor have a fine display of pianos and organs.

Secretary Crane, of the Toledo exposition, is an interested spectator.

C. J. Woolley & Co have a very attractive display of high grade pianos.

There are several clever devices for using oil as fuel on exhibition.

The Tribune and Sentinel both get out morning editions during the fair.

Stratton & Powell have a good exhibit of farm implements and carriages.

E. G. Walker, of Louisville, Ky., has an exhibit of Old Hickory wagons.

Talk as they may, but races without pools is like dinner without dessert.

The "Crescent" Tally Ho was on hand to-day with a big load of Toledo boys.

Hon. E. W. Poe, of Columbus, is one of the conspicuous figures at the fair.

A bicycle exhibit is all that's lacking to have all lines of business represented.

J. D. Leland and H. E. Trost, of Toledo, were the judges of the art exhibit.

Charlie Gridley took a keen interest in the dancing pavilion and is laughing yet.

Wood county has more pretty girls to the square mile than any county in the state.

The fakirs were thicker than flies in mid-smumer, and Toledo was well represented.

Geo. A. Heinl and E. J. Tippett, of Toledo, were the experts in the flower department.

It is whispered that Rev. Fitzwater will go west. He has a flattering offer from that direction.

Jim Hickox, formerly of this city and now a Bowling Green banker, is treasurer and general hustler.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla does what no other blood medicine in existence can do. It searches out all the impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly through the proper channels. This is why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is so pre-eminently effective as a remedy for rheumatism.

The Wilburs Still Drawing Crowded Houses.

Florence Bindley Next Week—Janauschek at the Wheeler Opera House—Wonderland.

The pretty opera Dorothy was presented by the Wilburs at the People's last night, and was witnessed by a crowded house. Hattie Richardson assumed the title role and Dorothy Morton the part of Lydia Hawthorne. The piece was well put up and Miss Richardson appeared to much better advantage than she has at any of the previous performances.

For to-night the bill is The Royal Middy. The Wilburs have been drawing crowded houses all week and their popularity is not waning in the least. They give a big show at popular prices and well worth seeing.

Wonderland.

At this popular place of amusement the musicians on the bill are making a big hit this week. These are Lillie Western, a clever little lady who makes sweet music on goblets, bells, concertina, violin and guitar, and Charles Diamond, the great harpist, in a clever act. In Curio hall the magician Krieger and Hamlin, who walks barefoot on sharp knives, are proving big attractions.

The Pay Train.

The above beautiful comedy drama will be produced at the People's theater week commencing Monday, October 3, and we have no hesitancy in saying that a rare treat is in store for our theater-goers. The company is a most excellent one headed by the charming soubrette, Miss Florence Bindley, who is supported by a cast of rare excellence. The scenic effects are marvelous and must be seen to be appreciated: several of the most prominent ones are, the interior of a coal mine in full operation; the realistic boiler explosion and wreck of the incline plane truck, which dashes to the stage with smoke and debris as natural as the real thing itself; the most phenomenal of all is the railroad effect, a full train of cars dashes across the stage at full speed, and is uncoupled in full view of the audience; the pay car is immediately lighted up, showing the action in the car: the company carries a full electric dynamo for this purpose. This drama is conceded by the press and public to be the most realistic of all mechanical dramas

The Great Janauschek.

The following notice, a recent extract from the Philadelphia Ledger, will speak for itself.

Last evening Madam Janauschek was given an old-time reception at the Academy. All the lovers of the tragic role were in attendance and the glorious welcome that this noble actress was given, demonstrated clearly that her excellent acting was appreciated. There is no denying the fact that she is the greatest tragic actress living, and when she bids adieu to the stage it will be hard to find one on whom her mantle can fall with any degree of success. There is about her art a noble, classic dignity, as is to be found about a temple nobly planned and built—her art is her own and never does she stoop to trickery to make her work effective. Nature has been kind to her and has endowed her with all those essentials that are to be found only in such beings as she. She is the embodiment of all that is really great and it is to be regretted that more of her is not to be seen in the future. Madame Janauschek is ably supported by an excellent company of ladies and gentlemen, all of whom acquitted themselves creditably on this occasion. This grand actress will appear at the Wheeler next Monday, October 3.

THE MONEY IS UP.

Columbus Day Funds Have Been Secured.

New York, Sept. 30.—All but a few hundred dollars of the citizens' fund of $100,000 required for the Columbus celebration of two weeks hence has been subscribed, and by Monday night the subscription papers will have been closed.

The promptness with which the subscriptions were guaranteed was due to the personal efforts of Cornelius Vanderbilt and S. D. Babcock, who between them had guaranteed to meet any deficiencies between the amount needed and the total subscribed. They will not, however, have to put their hands in their pockets for more than their original subscriptions.

WILL TAKE NO CHANCES.

City of Mexico, Sept. 30.—The project of a national railroad excursion to the United States has been abandoned on account of the fear of cholera.

WAKE UP.

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.

J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union, president of the Pastime Athletic club, and Athletic Editor of The Sporting Times, writes:

"For years I have been actively connected with athletic sports. I always found it to my advantage to use Allcock's Porous Plasters while in training, as they quickly remove soreness and stiffness; and when attacked with any kind of pains, the result of slight colds, I always use Allcock's with beneficial results. I have noticed that most athletes of the present day use nothing else but Allcock's Plasters."

CARS BURNED.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Forty carloads of merchandise in the Nickel Plate freight yards at the extreme limits of the city were destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock this morning. The loss will exceed $100,000. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is attributed to sparks from a passing engine.

NOTICE.

Fernando A. Crumb and Leila Crumb, his wife, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that on the 3rd day of September, 1892, Edward D. Moore as plaintiff, filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Lucas County, Ohio, against them and others, the object and prayer of which is to foreclose two certain mortgages made by one William H. England to said Edward D. Moore on lot (25) twenty-five, block (24) twenty-four, Hicks Farm Addition to Toledo, Lucas County, Ohio. One made on the 3rd day of January A. D., 1891, to secure the payment of six promissory notes, each in the sum of $100, all dated January 3, 1891, and payable to said Edward D. Moore or order on the 1st day of July of the years 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896 and 1897, respectively, with interest from January 3rd, 1891, at six per cent. per annum, to be paid annually. The other mortgage made on the 26th day of March, 1891, to secure the payment of one promissory note of same date for $50, payable to said Edward D. Moore or order on or before two years from the date thereof, with interest from said date at six per cent. per annum, to be paid annually. Said petition alleges that said Fernando A. Crumb holds the legal title to said above described lot subject to the plaintiff's mortgage liens thereon. Said petition prays for the sale of said real estate to pay the sums due on said notes.

Said defendants are required to answer or plead to said petition on or before the 21st day of November, A. D., 1892.

A Pleasant Meeting.

There was a large attendance of the members of the Catholic club at the meeting held last night in Friendship hall.

This young and growing literary club has become so popular that non-membership augurs no taste for intellectual pleasures, and the fact that the club's membership is so rapidly increasing evidences the great intelligence and refined tastes of Toledo Catholics.

The interest last evening centered in the excellent paper read by Mr. Roger Boyle, "A Summer Vacation."

Mr. Boyle handled his subject in an able manner, which was thoroughly appreciated by his audience.

Routine business was disposed of and the meeting adjourned after a few minutes of social enjoyment.

Several Toledo suffragists will be in attendance.

Col. Court Resigns as G. K. R. S.

A change went into effect last evening in the office of grand keeper of records and seals for the grand lodge of Ohio, Knights of Pythias, by which Col. S. A. Court stepped out and William Beatty stepped in. The resignation of Mr. Court was tendered by reason of his election as secretary of the Central Ohio Fire Insurance company, which has headquarters in the Bee building, and the duties of which will require his entire time. Mr. Court has been a familiar figure in Pythian circles for many years, having climbed the ladder from bottom to top. He, last December was re-elected to the position which he yesterday resigned, having served three years, and was installed June 1 for his second term, of which he has filled but four months. He has always been a zealous worker, and his friends and associates will wish him abundant success in his new field of labor. The members of the finance committee of the grand lodge, Messrs. J. W. Greene, of Toledo; W. W. Gunther, of Chillicothe, and C. J. Dickman, of Malvern, with the grand chancellor, P. H. Dorn, of Cleveland, and Hon. John W. Winn, of Defiance, of the advisory board, met in Toledo yesterday in connection with the change. The committee examined the books and placed their O. K. on the same. When this task was accomplished, Grand Chancellor Dorn appointed Mr. Beatty to the vacancy, who qualified with a bond of $10,000, took the oath of office, and is now the G. K. of R. and S.

The services will include the death memorial, and will be very impressive.

To-morrow morning the meeting will begin at 9 o'clock, and will comprise the prayers for early morning, early afternoon, late afternoon and evening.

The orthodox Jews will observe Atonement day at the synagogue on Union street, the service beginning this evening at 5:30.

GAY YOUNG PEOPLE

Trip the Light Fantastic Until Early Dawn.

The ball given last evening in Memorial hall by the Toledo Rifles, was a very enjoyable affair, as all the previous entertainments given by these gentlemen have been.

Leon's orchestra furnished the music, the hall was beautifully decorated, and the reception committee performed their duties in a manner that showed they were not novices in the art of entertaining.

The committees were made up of the following gentlemen:

Capt. Holbrook, Lieuts. Howard and Stanbery; floor committee, Sergts. Banks, Kane and Morrison, and Privates Matthews, Roth and Mercer.

The grand march was led by Sergeant Banks and wife, and was participated in by about 600 people.

The Wolverine Club's Hop.

At Weber's hall a merry party gathered last night, the occasion being the fifth annual ball given by the Wolverine Hunting club.

Good music was furnished by Robedeau's orchestra, and nearly 500 persons enjoyed the mazy dance.

The following young men form the membership and officers of the club:

Officers—President N. J. Robedeau; vice president, L. Trudeau; secretary, C. F. Kelley; treasurer, P. I. Gonia; manager, Eugene Posino.

Members—F. C. Plum, L. Dugan, C. F. Russell, H. Seary, G. Door, G. Birk, C. Lang, B. Myers, F. Brown, T. Cook.

T. & O. C. ELECTION.

New Secretary and Treasurer Chosen—Other Business Transactions.

The stockholders of the Toledo & Ohio Central Railway company met at General Manager Ferris' office yesterday afternoon to take action on several propositions incorporated in the call of the meeting.

The propositions, unanimously approved, were as follows: To increase the capital stock of the company from $4,849,000 to $6,500,000; to extend the line from the present terminus at Columbus to Ridgeway, Hardin county; to purchase that part of the Toledo, Columbus & Cincinnati railway lying between this city and Ridgeway, and to issue bonds of the company in the sum of $2,500,000 for the purpose of extending the road and making other improvements.

The directors also met and elected the old officers of the company.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of John T. Cline as secretary and treasurer was filled by the election of L. D. Kelly, formerly auditor of the Kanawha & Michigan road. John Landgraf, jr., late auditor of the T. & O. C., was elected to succeed Mr. Kelly as auditor of the K. & M.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS MET,

But the Arrangements Were Not Probably Just as Wanted.

A special meeting of the police board was called yesterday, and it was given out that it was to be a star chamber session. It was generally supposed that the alleged conspiracy in the force was to be investigated, the traitor or traitors exposed and drummed out of camp. Just what the meeting was called for lies buried beneath the hat of the powerful majority of the board.

The members of the press were on hand before the commissioners arrived, and after the meeting was called to order awaited a cordial invitation to get out. There was a pause.

Mayor Emmick looked at Doville, and Doville looked at Waring, and Waring looked out of the window. Potter was not present. Stager looked on and enjoyed the fun. The suspense became oppressive, and to break the spell Mr. Waring referred to a communication on the secretary's table from Solicitor Read, relative to the contracts for the repairing of the police station. He informed the board that the bids were not definite enough to guide him in drafting a contract that would be satisfactory to the board or contractors. If the two would agree as to plans and specifications he would gladly draft contracts to that effect.

Mr. Stager moved that the work go ahead under the supervision of the station house committee and chief of police, which was adopted.

Then came another spell of unbroken quietude. The majority looked at each other, and it was evident that one was afraid and the other "dassent." Mr. Stager moved to adjourn, which carried, and the hen is still on.

MADE PERPETUAL.

The Injunction Relating to the Warn Bank Stock.

The case of the First National bank of Bellevue, O., against the Merchants' National bank of Toledo, was decided in common pleas court this morning. The suit was filed by the plaintiffs, through Scribner & Hurd, to enjoin the Merchants' National bank from transferring $3,500 worth of stock to Letta B. Warn, administrator of the estate of Virginia B. Warn, deceased.

It seems that Monroe C. Warn held the stock in trust for the children, and that he borrowed $3,000 of the First National bank of Bellevue. When the children became of age the administratrix demanded the stock, and the Merchants' National was about to transfer the stock to the children when the First National bank of Bellevue procured a temporary injunction restraining such action.

The court this morning overruled the motion to dissolve the restraining order, and made the injunction perpetual.

BLACK IS A FASHIONABLE COLOR

The fashionable color this fall is black. This is a fortunate thing for the woman who does not have an unlimited amount of pocket money, as with diamond dyes she can make faded clothes a rich and handsome black.

There are three kinds of diamond dye fast blacks, for wool, for cotton, for silk and feathers. They are simple to use and make colors that never fade, crock, or wash out.

DEMOCRATIC Congressional Convention

The Democrats of the Ninth Congressional District of Ohio, comprising the counties of Fulton, Lucas, Ottawa and Wood, are hereby notified to meet in convention in Bowling Green, Wood County, at 10 o'clock a. m.,

ON TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1892,

for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for congress to be supported at the November election.

The basis of representation in this convention will be one vote for every one hundred votes, and one for every fraction of 50 and over, cast for James E. Campbell for Governor in 1891. Upon this basis the several counties are entitled to the following vote in convention:

Fulton	17
Lucas	85
Ottawa	29
Wood	46

L. C. COLE, Secretary. W. J. COLBURN, Chairman.

Wanny compiling a hymn book is a companion piece to Wanny at the cheap pants counter, in his country postoffices; or, Wanny planking down his check for the cause of the party, which promises something in return. Wanny is a versatile fellow, but he don't want to be interviewed about booming either his book or his pants through the mail and postmaster agency.

The price fixed for hacks and all kinds of vehicles at the opening of the world's fair is $22 a day. This is extortion, but it is the Chicago way of filching money from big crowds. Many hotels robbed persons who attended the last national democratic convention. Whenever an extraordinary gathering is announced in Chicago the program is to advance everything strangers must buy. Perhaps Chicago is independent enough to laugh at complaints, but the Chicago method is robbery, just the same, and reflects discredit on the western metropolis.

Murat Halstead says:

Whitelaw Reid's western tour was made with the purpose of restricting public speaking within narrow limits. * * * There was one caution given that was needed and important:—That the republicans are developing excess of confidence.

The republican orator always keeps himself within narrow limits. He must do so, necessarily, or lose his feet in a tariff discussion. Common sense, natural law, facts and figures, justice, honesty and prevailing public opinion are all against him. The second warning was scarcely needed. The apparent "excess of confidence" is all a bluff, and Whitelaw ought to know it.

A "gem" from the republican campaign book:

The farmers have realized better prices for grains, vegetables and animals, and yet the consumers have not paid more for their food. The farmer gets much more and the consumer pays a shade less than before for the same food.

And this is as consistent as the rest of their argument, to prove that all men can become prosperous by way of taxation levied to enrich a few—through the generous disposition of the few to yield a fraction of the spoils! Wonderful achievement: the seller gets better prices and the buyer pays less for the same commodity!

Members of one literary club in an Ohio town purpose to be well posted when they go to the Chicago fair. They have entered upon a 24 weeks' study of the World's Columbian Exposition, sending to department committees for literature and information. They will thus have the plans of the exhibit all arranged in mind and be ready for the actual study and enjoyment of the display. The idea is an excellent one; a mind well equipped for knowledge will imbibe twice as much information, on occasion, as one which must postpone immediate impressions to inquire of history and antecedent. A thorough study of the exposition will be the best possible equipment for its completest appreciation and enjoyment.

Terence V. Powderly is making for himself very characterless history. An avowed leader of laboring men, he gives adherence to the political preachments and practices that have reduced the laborer to a condition where he shows his teeth and fights for his rights, not being fully and wisely instructed as to better methods of compelling justice and fairness. Mr. Powderly pretends to be the champion of labor the wide country over. Confined to details, he is a protectionist because that policy enriches his state of Pennsylvania or its coterie of millionaire manufacturers at the expense of all other states. That's Mr. Powderly. He is too contemptibly contracted for any kind of a leader. His followers, hundreds of them, are in advance of him, and he is pretty rapidly finding it out.

JUDGE HUDSON.

The preliminary steps in the advancement of Mr. P. C. Hudson to Judge P. C. Hudson were taken in democratic convention yesterday. The contest was between Lucas county candidates. Mr. Hudson gave evidence of being a great hustler, a characteristic that is much desired in this close district. The candidate is a good lawyer, and if elevated to the bench, as is more than probable, he will administer justice with fairness and ability.

HE SLICK ROBBER.

The young student of political economy who said "he would as soon pay his taxes by way of a protective tariff as any other," should be reminded of the sentiment expressed by Gov. McKinley in an Ohio campaign speech. He said, "the people would never suffer direct taxation to the same extent; they would rebel." The young student submits, ignorantly, to the McKinley doctrine: it is easy to rob the people, and for them to suffer the robbery if it is done in hiding and they do not realize it. A direct bounty to manufacturers, instead of indirect and expensive of collection, would be the fairer and juster way of benefitting the favored ones, but as the "auditor of the ways and means committee" said, "the people would never stand it." It is a trite saying that the American people delight to be humbugged, and the truth of this is the only explanation for the adherence of the wage-earner to the protective tariff policy.

A CONDITION NOT A THEORY.

It hardly seems necessary for the editor or the orator, advocating tariff taxation, to tell the agriculturist and the common laborer what protection "will do" for them. We have had nearly thirty years' experiment with it, and the producing masses of the country ought to know, for themselves, what it has done and is doing. It has poured the wealth of the country into a few special channels and given unwarranted power to beneficiaries. It has created a select set of millionaires and an army of tramps. Since its last achievement—the McKinley law—there have been over 500 labor strikes in protected industries. If nature were not provident to the farmer in this land of favored soil and climate, he would be in narrow straits indeed. As it is, with all natural conditions in his favor, he is burdened with mortgage and debt, and struggling continually against adverse fate, without understanding how it is that his burdens increase instead of diminish. No need for the high-taxers to explain what benefits are sure to come, in the future; let the thoughtful ones review the past and see what governmental favoritism, discrimination and party sale of privileges has wrought for them.

LETTERS OF CANDIDATES.

A concensus of newspaper opinion on letters of acceptance of presidential candidates is, ironically speaking, a valuable collection. Every party man sees dignity, patriotism and statesmanship in the utterances of his own candidate, and weakness, craftiness and imbecility in those of the others. The supposition is that each letter is infinitely better than its hostile critics will admit and nowhere near so perfect as its admirers declare. It is the deliberate thought of one strong mind, modified and shaped by the influence of many others. The sentiment avowed is the good of the country squared as handsomely as possible by the party policy. The good or bad of a candidate's letter consists in the doctrines it promulgates. The chief difference between the letters of Harrison and Cleveland is a difference in heighth and breadth, not in earnestness and apparent sincerity. Mr. Harrison enters into the details of dispute like the politician; Mr. Cleveland takes broader ground and makes terse general statements that cover the field of disputation. Mr. Harrison's is more the neat, bright work of the special pleader, Mr. Cleveland's has a tone of courageous defense, but not of apology. Necessarily they are not alike, but each is masterly "in its way."

MASTERS OF THE SITUATION.

The Carnegie mills may close down and business be altogether suspended. And this is the outcome of the leading protected industry business of the world. A million and a half profits yearly, governmental protection and aid, and to satisfy the spite and dogged determination of a few men in their opposition to organized labor which dares to insist upon some small consideration in the division of spoils, the whole country must suffer. This is the rankest and basest ingratitude. It is, also, the plainest object lesson for the campaign that tariff reformers could devise. Rather than arbitrate question of rights with labor organizations the bosses shut their doors and retire to their baronial castles in monarchial countries, and let the plodders in the new world get on as best they can without them. They have millions for the support of themselves in luxury the rest of their natural lives and to leave their descendants as richly provided for. If the government should take possession of the property in the name of the people of the United States, whose tribute has built it, open its gates, throw down its palisades, readjust the wage schedule and light the fires in the furnace, there would be literal justice and propriety in such a course.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Site Secured on Summit Street for the New Theater.

J. T. Dewey Clinches the Deal and It Is a Go.

Wenty Feet on Summit and 200 Feet on Water—S. C. and C. L. Reynolds Subscribe $50,000—Negotiations About Complete.

Toledo's proposed theater is an assured fact.

It will be known as the Grand Opera house, and will open one year from tomorrow.

The 20-foot front on Summit street, occupied formerly by Charlie Chase's saloon and running back to a 200-foot frontage on Water street has been secured for a site and will make a most desirable one.

The property, at least, the Summit street frontage, is owned by Col. S. C. Reynolds, and yesterday Mr. J. T. Dewey practically closed negotiations for the sale.

Yesterday Messrs. S. C. and C. L. Reynolds subscribed $25,000 each toward the $75,000 cash necessary for the erection of the structure.

The price is to be fixed by a committee of two, one to be appointed by Col. Reynolds and one by the subscribers of the capital stock.

George W. Davis and two others have each subscribed $5,000 each so that $65,000 out of the $75,000 has been subscribed. Mr. Dewey expects to raise the remaining $10,000 to-day.

The theater is to cost $150,000. When the $75,000 is paid in $75,000 of bonds will be issued at a low rate of interest.

The opera house will be located on the ground floor and will have a main entrance of 20 feet.

Mr. Dewey has made his promise good, and, notwithstanding the doubts of many Toledoans, is going to have a fine theater on Summit street.

THE BROER HEARING

Still Occupying Attention Before Judge Millard.

Some Additional Witnesses Relate Details

Of Deals With Watches, Diamonds, Notes, Mortgages and the Like—Mr. Broer Makes a Statement to the Court.

The Broer case was taken up again in probate court yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

E. J. Herrick, who, Mr. Broer testified, was in with him on the mortgage deals, was called to the stand. He stated that about four years ago he bought $500 worth of diamonds of Broer, and gave him a mortgage on the property in East Toledo, referred to by Mr. Broer. He paid part of the debt and afterwards sold the land to Broer for $1,000, taking out the balance in diamonds and watches. He took O. G. Wales to Broer, who sold Broer the $750 mortgage and took diamonds. This mortgage was on Missouri land and made by Cook direct to Broer.

The next week in with Broer and put in $450 worth of jewelry and diamonds against Broer's $1,550 and bought the $2,000 mortgage. This was made by Lewis to Cook, and then to Broer and was on Kentucky or Tennessee land, he did not know which. Before buying the land they both went in person to Attorney Gavitt to have the papers examined.

The court then adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning, when the examination was again taken up. Gladwell, the pawnbroker, was sworn. Before he testified Mr. Kohn requested that Mr. Broer be given an opportunity to make a statement relative to the testimony given yesterday with regard to his connection with Mr. Gladwell. Mr. Read consented, but concluded to hear Mr. Gladwell first, as he was in a hurry to get away.

Mr. Gladwell testified that about a year and a half ago Mr. Broer left seven or eight small diamonds and a Howard gold watch with him and obtained $125 on the deposit. The stones averaged not over half karat in weight. They were redeemed, though Mr. Broer bought the Howard movement back. He said the stock was left by Mr. Broer in person. He testified that Harry Wade left diamonds and watches after that and obtained $225. He thought the stock came from Broer.

Mr. Broer next took the stand and testified that he had forgotten about the diamond transaction with Gladwell. Mr. Read asked him if he ever had taken diamonds and given them to parties whom he owed in Toledo. He said he never did to his knowledge.

Mr. Kohn objected to the question, holding that it was too broad in its scope to warrant an intelligent answer.

Mr. Read stated that Mr. Broer had only accounted for a part of the goods purchased. The question was only for the purpose of ascertaining if possible where more of the stock had gone.

Mr. Kohn replied that Mr. Broer had testified to investing $45,000 in the patents and mortgages and had taken up over $30,000 worth of notes since January 1, 1892.

"How many notes did you give to Nichols and Wade to discount?" was next asked by Mr. Read.

A—I gave Harry Wade a note of $1,000 which he discounted to Patterson.

Q—Any more?

A—One to Nichols amounting to to $150 given for cash.

Q—Did you ever suspect that Wade was swindling you?

A—No, he seemed to be dealing squarely with me though sometimes I was suspicious.

Mr. Read then referred to a conversation had with himself, in which Mr. Broer said it was too bad that a man in his (Broer's) time in life should be swindled by these sharks. Mr. Broer confirmed the conversation.

On being asked when his suspicions were aroused, he replied that it was about two weeks before his failure. Wade and Nichols had shown him letters from a New York party who wanted to buy the sheet deliverer. He came on and refused to buy the patent.

Q—Were you ever warned that Wade and Nichols were swindling you?

A—No.

Q—I will ask you if a year ago last April Wade and Nichols did not take a $200 note signed by you and sell it to I. E. Knisely?

A—Yes, and I took it up.

Q—After that did you not give Nichols a $600 note to take to Knisely to discount. And did he not ask you for a statement, and did he not warn you that Wade and Nichols were swindling you?

Mr. Broer could not remember anything about such transaction.

The statements made to the New York Jewelers' Board of Trade were next produced and made a part of the record.

Mr. Read repeated his former question about giving notes to discount, and requested Mr. Broer to think the matter over carefully and be prepared to answer at the next session.

Mr. Broer requested to be given an opportunity to relate the details of the mortgage deals. He said "After I had bought the $750 note, I think I met Cook on Superior street one day, and he said he would like to buy some jewelry for his daughters and wanted to know if I did not want another note. I said I guessed I did not. Not long after Herrick came out to my store and said he saw Cook looking over Judd's stock, and that he was going to buy some goods, and said I could get another deal out of him if I wanted it. I told Herrick if the paper was all right I would not mind. We went together to see his lawyer Gavitt, to see if the paper was all right. I told him I did not want the paper unless I could realize on it at once. Gavitt said he knew of a party who would buy it, so we invested in the $2,000 piece. Gavitt said the man would be in town in a short time and when he came he would let me know. In a day or two a messenger boy came to my house with a note from Gavitt stating that the man was in town, for me to come down and bring the mortgage with me. I went down to Gavitt's office after dinner, and met a stranger who Gavitt introduced to me as Mr. Wheeler, of Tiffin. We went into a private room to talk the matter over. Mr. Wheeler asked if I had the mortgage with me. I produced the paper. He looked at it and said it was all right. He said he had another deal on, that he wanted some more paper which was out on the same land, amounting to $1,300, which was owned by Cook. He offered to take one mortgage at a reduction of 15 per cent. from the face value, and agreed to pay me $50 if I got the other mortgage. I went to Herrick and he seemed pleased at the opportunity. Wheeler said he must have the deal closed before Friday. This occurred on Wednesday. On Thursday I went to Cook, but he said he did not have the $1,300 mortgage, but had a $1,350 mortgage. I went to Herrick and reported. He advised me to take the $1,350 paper and on the next day the deal was closed, Herrick being present when the goods were turned over to Cook. Soon after Wheeler came to town and upon looking at the mortgage said it was not the one he wanted. That it was a $1,300 piece he was after and refused to take any of the paper."

New York, Sept. 30.—At the opening of the Union Theological Seminary yesterday, Rev. Dr. C. C. FIRE ON PIKE'S PEAK.

Denver, Col., Sept. 30.—The famous signal station building at the summit of Pike's Peak burned last night. While the building was used by the weather bureau it was the highest point of observation in the United States. This year it was utilized as a cafe for passengers on the cog road.

SUED THE PAPER.

Denver, Col., Sept. 30.—Peter Kennedy, who recently met with a serious accident, has brought suit against the Rocky Mountain News, which publishes an accident coupon each day, his claim having been rejected by the publishers. The courts have heretofore held that no actual consideration renders the claim invalid.

COUNCIL COMMITTEES

Spend a Night See-Sawing on Contracts

And Then Lay Them Over for a Week—New Sidewalks and Other Less Important Matters.

The council committee on streets sometimes has a very funny, if not unique, way of doing business. Last night, for instance, it passed a resolution to award the Fulton street improvement contract to the lowest bidder—H. P. Streicher—and then without reconsidering this resolution laid the matter on the table for two weeks.

This is how it happened: H. P. Streicher's bid for the asphalting of Fulton street from Bancroft to Webster was $38,266—$356.66 lower than the bid of the Warren-Schaarf Co. If established precedents had been followed the contract must necessarily have been awarded to Streicher, but in this particular case some of the Fulton street property owners appeared before the committee last night, as well as a week ago last night, and asked to have all the bids rejected on the ground that they were too high, and that if the contract was readvertised the next bids would be at least 15 per cent. lower. At the meeting last Thursday a majority of the committee evidenced a disposition to award the contract to Streicher, but C. A. Thatcher, the representative and spokesman of the property owners, alleged that the quality of asphalt which Streicher proposed to use was inferior to that which would be used by the Warren-Schaarf Co., and was in fact nothing more or less than what is known as "land asphalt," a low grade of asphaltum. The awarding of the contract was therefore deferred until last night to give the objectors time to verify their allegations.

When the matter came up last night Mr. Thatcher again appeared before the committee and supplemented his former objections by reading letters from officials in cities where "land asphalt" had been used. The substance of these letters was that land asphalt was a dismal failure. In addition to this, Mr. Thatcher said he had a petition signed by more than two-thirds of the property owners praying the committee to reject all bids and readvertise.

Mr. Osborne read a circular in which land asphalt was condemned, and then Streicher addressed the committee in his own behalf. He said all he asked for was fair play; that he was the lowest bidder and therefore clearly entitled to the contract, and furthermore, that his competition had forced the Warren-Schaarf Co. to come down several per cent in their bids. Streicher made a favorable impression, and it began to look as though the contract would be awarded to him.

Mr. Tanner moved that the contract be awarded to the lowest bidder.

Mr. Osborne moved as an amendment, that all the bids be rejected.

The amendment was lost by a tie vote, and then Tanner's original motion was carried by a majority of one.

Then some one suggested that when the vote on the amendment was taken only ten votes were cast, but that there were eleven votes on Tanner's resolution. This precipitated another squabble, and then, without reconsidering Tanner's motion, it was moved and carried to lay the whole matter on the table for two weeks.

The clerk made no mistake in calling the roll, but one member of the committee refrained from voting on the amendment.

Madison Street Cleaning Ordinance.

Another important matter that was temporarily disposed of was the question of cleaning Madison street from Water street to Woodruff avenue. Dr. Chapman, a property owner on this street, addressed the committee at some length. He said this street was always in a filthy condition and had been cleaned only once in several months. "No city in the country," said he, "has such unclean streets as Toledo. The only apparatus ever used on this street is the old-fashioned hoe, wagon and broom. What the property owners want, and what a large number of them demand, is modern machinery that will clean the thoroughfare properly."

Attorney H. F. Schunck, who said he represented a large number of property owners, took issue with Dr. Chapman on a good many points and asked to have the matter postponed. As there seemed to be considerable uncertainty as to who would have charge of the cleaning in case the ordinance was passed, the committee laid it on the table indefinitely.

Improvement of Jefferson Street.

The petition for the asphalting of Jefferson street, from Superior to Eleventh was laid on the table for one week to give the city civil engineer time to prepare a resolution to that effect.

Other resolutions and ordinances were approved as follows: To improve Oakwood avenue from Waite avenue to Hoag street; to improve Rogers street from Navarre avenue to Woodville street; to improve Navarre avenue from Oak street to Woodville street; to improve Wilton avenue between Navarre avenue and Earl street; to improve Union street, North street to Woodville avenue, and from Bancroft street to North street; to improve Curtis street, Lenk street to Western avenue, and to improve George street from Lagrange to Locust street. The resolution granting Melcher Bros. permission to put up a sign on Superior street was also reapproved.

The contract for paving the alley between Summit and St. Clair streets, from Madison to Monroe, was awarded to the lowest bidder for asphalt.

The resolution to improve Spielbusch avenue from Oak to Warren street was modified so as to provide for a 48-foot street instead of 55 and then approved, and the resolution to clean Broadway from Ottawa street to the Wabash crossing was laid on the table.

The contract for paving Bancroft street from Monroe to the Lake Shore railroad was awarded to W. R. Warren, the lowest bidder for asphalt, with Medina curb. Warren's bid was $19,732.60.

Bridge Committee.

The bridge committee discussed the Broadway bridge for some time and then postponed action thereon for one week. Action on the Swan creek bridge was also deferred. The resolution passed a week ago for the replanking of the Cherry street bridge was partially rescinded and another resolution adopted providing for a course of two and a half inch planking.

Sewer Committee.

The committee on sewers adopted resolutions for the following sewers: In Balfe street and alley between Orchard and Peckard streets, from Balfe street to Bowman street; in Smead avenue from Bancroft street to Monroe street, and in the alley between Chase and Erie streets.

BUILDING FALLS.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—At 11 o'clock this morning the timbers in the second floor of the new building, Nos. 52 and 54 Canal street, fell, carrying with them Dennis Nuto and Pat Horan. Both men are thought to be fatally injured.

THE METHODISTS.

Work of the Conference at Van Wert.

Interesting Discussions on Affairs of Interest to the Church.

Van Wert, O., Sept. 30.—(Special)—The conference opened with a lecture by Rev. Geo. K. Morris, D. D., of St. Paul's M. E. church, Cincinnati, on sacred oratory. Most of the preachers were present at this hour and it was spent no doubt profitably.

At 9 o'clock Bishop Ninde entered the conference room and called the conference to order. The minutes were read and the conference proceeded to business. A breezy incident of the morning session was a tilt between Drs. Rutlidge and Belt. Rev C. Farnsworth was appointed as superintendent of the children's home, of Logan county, resigning his work to accept the charge. Dr. Belt moved his appointment to the chaplaincy of this home, and Dr. Rutlidge argued that it was not a chaplaincy, but simply a superintendency. Belt replied that it was a chaplaincy, as Farnsworth would not allow any teacher in the home who did not teach Methodist literature, and Rutledge replied if this became public, Farnsworth's head would come off. The conference refused to request his appointment.

A number of clerical gentlemen were introduced to the conference, including the local pastors of Van Wert. Dr. Stubbs, of Baldwin university, and the pastor of Fort Wayne, Ind., and the presiding elder of the same district.

Gershum Lease presented a carefully written report of his district, after which his character passed; also the preachers in his district.

Rev. W. V. Marsh, having accepted a clerkship in the Pullman hotel, in Chicago, at a salary of $1,200 a year and board for himself and family, resolved to accept it and asked to be excused from the work for a year. His request was granted.

Louis M. Albright reported the Delaware district and the character of the preachers passed. Rev. I. N. Smith, on account of health, asked for a supernumerary relation, which was granted.

J. M. Longfellow asked and was granted a superannuated relation.

The Findlay district was reported by the presiding elder, Rev. A. C. Barnes, D. D., after which all the preachers passed examination of character.

Lima district was called and Rev. I. R. Henderson, D. D., reported its spiritual and temporal condition, after which the character of the preachers passed.

Dr. Stubbs, president of Baldwin university, addressed the conference; also Rev. Elon Foster advertised his books and then thanked the preachers for what they did not have, viz.: patience.

The Toledo District Reported.

An immense throng assembled at the Methodist church last night to hear J. W. Hamilton, D. D., speak on the Freedmen's Aid society. The doctor seems not to have gotten properly into the harness yet, but will no doubt do a grand work in favor of the freed men of the south. His address emphasized the work of the society from the standpoint of citizenship and patriotism.

The conference to-day continued its routine work, receiving a class of prominent young men on trial and passing the classes onward to their upward grades.

Dr. Leonard addressed the conference on the subject of missions. Dr. Pope reported the Toledo district, as follows:

Toledo District.

The labors of another year are over; the records written. Kept by our Heavenly Father every pastor has returned to conference again, in good health, bearing good reports, having wrought faithfully, with nothing against him and having souls for his hire. It is ours, briefly, to present an outline of the work wrought; to note some of the results; to review the material and spiritual condition of that part of our Master's kingdom which was allotted to our care and oversight. Except at two charges, to be served by supplies, the work has been performed according to the appointed plan and the pastors were early at their chosen fields. Cygnet was supplied by Rev. Charles Hoag; Mt. Pleasant by Rev. James Long, superannuated members of our conference. Tontogany and Portage circuit was filled by Rev. L. E. Linzell, a student of O. W. U., and has had a gracious year. Two important charges, Port Clinton and Lakeside, by the strange action of the last general conference were transferred to the North Ohio conference. We have had charge over them through the year, but they have reported as Elyria. We have lost 350 members, four churches, two parsonages, four Epworth leagues, three Women's Missionary societies, $250 annual missionary collection, $40 superannuated collection charges; all collections are taken; two first-class preachers, and this against the united and unanimous protest of the membership.

The Spiritual Condition

of the charges is very encouraging when judged by the attendance upon the services of the sanctuary and the various means of grace. With a few exceptions congregations are large and devout, class meetings are held at every appointment, in city station and country circuit, and are occasions of blessing. The weekly prayer meeting is urged by the pastors, and is made a season of great profit. The love-feasts are usually well attended, every moment is improved and God manifests his presence there. The communion season is one of refreshing, is generally observed by our people, while in many cases the entire congregation tarries thoughtfully to its close. All the pastors sought to hold revival services during the accustomed season. In some cases the great prevalence of sickness interfered; people could not attend; pastors were sick with the universal complaint and special services were abandoned; yet conversions have occurred on every charge; additions have been frequent during all the year and some blessed revivals have accompanied the labors of the workmen—notably at Portage, Waterville, Delta, Clark Street, Weston, Third Street, Monroe Street, Liberty Center, Elmore, West Toledo, Swanton, Grand Rapids, Bethany, Bethel, Lakeside, Gibsonburg and Perrysburg. In all some 800 were added upon probation as a result of the winter and spring campaign. A goodly number of these have already come into full fellowship with the church and many others are to be received.

Rev. J. W. Donnan, agent of the Preachers' Aid society, has given very valuable aid in evangelistic work at Delta, Elmore, West Toledo and Waterville, and as a result of his timely assistance many were added to the church and the work of the aid society also gained by these labors.

Our Sunday Schools

have had a year of prosperity; they are manned with capable and careful teachers who seek to educate their scholars and to bring forth spiritual results. In some schools two-thirds of the scholars use their Bibles. Nearly all use our own church literature, and with rare exceptions the missionary cause has the right of way. More than one-fifth of the entire contribution to our missionary cause comes from the Sunday schools.

Two District Conferences

are held in Toledo district annually. The first, in November, was held at Wauseon, and was an inspiring session. The list of benevolences was reviewed and duly apportioned to each charge; $3,000 was apportioned to the missionary cause, $900 to the superannuated claims and to all a special amount, making a total of nearly $6,400. These causes have been carefully presented; there will be few blanks I hope none; and approximate reports indicate a slight advance over last year; the best year thus far on the same territory. The June conference was held at Weston; an interesting session, occupied with literary discussions, sermons by local ministers in the local course, reports, licenses and a review of the benevolences of the church. Five local ministers who were licensed have gone to the university, that they may fit themselves for the active ministry, workmen that need not be ashamed. The claims for ministerial support have in no case been decreased while in a number of charges they have been advanced. Some deficiences will be reported, though most of these claims will be paid in full. The periodicals of the church have received an increase in their circulation. The "Western Christian Advocate" is very acceptable, while the "Christian Advocate" has special attractions to many, and both have a good list of subscribers. The "Epworth Herald" is a great favorite with our young people and ought to be read by all of them. Twenty-eight hundred copies of the Toledo District Methodist have been circulated every month in our congregations and has proved its right to exist.

The W. F. M. S.,

under the efficient management of Mrs. S. W. Flower, district secretary, has again surpassed its expectations and has raised over $800 for its noble work and has planned largely for the coming year.

The Ladies' Home Missionary Society, Mrs. S. Case, president, though younger than its sister society, is full of zeal, abundant in labors and as successful in its results. Its report will appear in our statistics. In December, the handsome church edice at Swanton, built at the cost of much labor and sacrifice, was burned on the second anniversary of its dedication. The month following the church at Wauseon was badly damaged by fire. Both churches were free from debt, and insured, the first to nearly half its value, the latter being fully insured. The wisdom of the question, "Is our church properly insured?" was again manifest, this making the fourth church burned on the district in four years, upon which losses $17,000 insurance has been paid.

The material improvements and additions to church property have not kept pace with the two preceding years, yet they show cause for thanksgiving.

Immediately after conference, October 4, it was our privilege to dedicate the new church at McClure, Grand Rapids circuit, built under the labors of Rev. J. C. Sinclair, a handsome gothic structure, after church extension plans, and costing $3,200. It was dedicated free from debt, $800 being raised on that day. The fire at Swanton necessitated a new structure, and though the former debt had just been cancelled, the preparations to rebuild were at once begun. A brick church, larger and handsomer, has been erected, which we are to dedicate October 9. Rev. M. D. Baumgardner, the pastor, has been abundant in labor in this unexpected task, and the end has crowned his work. The church at Wauseon, Rev. D. F. Helms, pastor, has been repaired and improved with elevated floor and was re opened early in July. Following the revival at Tontogany, seeing the necessity of enlargement of the church, the youthful pastor, Rev. L. E. Linzell, was instrumental in adding a wing for prayer services, a recess for pulpit and choir and a corner tower, nearly doubling the capacity of the church. The church was re-dedicated by Rev. S. L. Roberts September 11.

At Gibsonburg, Rev. J. A. Lucy, pastor, two lots adjoining church and parsonage have been purchased, and a church erected upon them, with lecture room and infant class room, making it the largest Protestant church in that growing village. It is nearly completed and will be ready for dedication in October. A new era dawns upon Gibsonburg Methodism.

The appointment of Rev. J. H. Bethards to Broadway charge in Toledo meant the erection of a church large enough and with the appointments necessary to meet the needs of that part of the city. The situation was a difficult one and the membership of working people not strong. But necessity was upon them; yea, woe, if they built not, and encouraged by Dr. Kynett, and given backing by the Church Extension society, and assurances from other churches the enterprise is under way. The parsonage was moved and placed upon a lot near by at an expense of $1,300, making a valuable improvement. The contract is let for a church edifice 104 feet in length by 75 feet in width, capable when thrown together of seating 800 people. The foundation is completed; the walls are rising; the corner-stone was dedicated by the presiding elder, assisted by the city pastors, September 25. The church will be enclosed early in November and Sunday school room ready, as per contract, January 1, 1893. Remembering well, as we do, the aid given by this conference to St. Paul's church, it is also well to know that returns are coming back to our common Methodism. Three years ago St. Paul's gave aid to Third Street in its enlargement, two years ago she contributed largely in building Clark Street, last year she gave help to Monroe Street and Albany Street, and has listened to the needs of Broadway, her official board pledging St. Paul's church to raise $1,250 to enable her to fulfill her contract on January on January 1, 1893. And the end is not yet; her eye is upon other needs and she will put her shoulder to the task and do her part well.

A new parsonage has been built at Liberty Center, Rev. R. E. Woodruff, pastor, supplementing the work of the former pastor, and it awaits its occupant after conference.

Bethany, in the suburbs of Toledo, has completed a two-story parsonage for the use of a new pastor when he arrives.

St. John's, Toledo, Rev. A. J. Fish, pastor, has raised and in bank for a mission chapel $300, and has raised funds for a new pipe organ.

Improvements of permanent value have been made upon the church properties at Bowling Green, Elmore, Freeport, Grand Rapids, LaCarne, Lakeside, Maumee, Waterville, and are now in progress at Perrysburg.

Too much cannot easily be said of the importance of that youngest child of the church—the Epworth league—in its opportunities to guide and direct the youthful vigor of the church. Steady progress has been made by the league throughout the district during the three years of its existence. It was our privilege to organize the Toledo District league over two years ago, and by their good grace to lead them in their efforts since that time. Two conventions have been held the past year, the semi-annual at Elmore, an enthusiastic gathering. A "bureau of help" to strengthen weak leagues and to organize new ones was formed there that is doing valuable work. The annual convention at Perrysburg, August 24, was attended by 175 delegates and accomplished much good.

In June a city union was formed of all the leagues of the city and its suburbs "to take counsel together for work, to lend assistance to weak chapters, forming a better acquaintance and promoting works of mercy and help." The league is proving a bond of closer union and fellowship between our people. There are in this district twenty-five Epworth leagues, five Junior leagues, five Christian Endeavor societies, all working with the District league, with a total of 1,718 members organized together for this special work. We are aiming to enlist all our young people by this new tie.

Under the plan sanctioned by the last general conference, and found in the New Discipline, steps have been taken to reorganize our "City Union" that each new enterprise may have the sympathy and help of all the church. Meantime St. John's church has conducted a mission Sunday school during the entire year; Broadway has taken charge of Air Line Junction and is holding service there and further plans will develop ere long. The church must save the cities and bring the gospel and sanctuary within easy reach of all. In the meantime, that other problem must not be forgotten, how to save the country circuits from which the most vigorous and valuable are ever removing to the centers of population.

Three during the year has death entered our itinerant homes. He claimed first as his own the sweet infant daughter of Rev. G. M. Hunter and wife, of Metamora. Alone they laid her away, yet they were not alone. April 12th our brother, Rev. D. F. Helms, pastor of Wauseon, was bereft of his beloved wife. A great sufferer, she endured as seeing the invisible one and passed away in holy confidence and great peace, at the midnight hour.

And again, Adeale Neal Holding, companion and helpmeet of Rev. Carlisle B. Holding, of Clark Street, Toledo, went home to her father, God, August 13. Commending their husbands and children to Him whom they perfectly trusted, these two saints, weary, wasted and worn, closed their eyes in sweet heavenly rest.

With devout thanksgiving to Almighty God for unbroken health, for strength and courage to meet every emergency, with warm remembrances for the helpfulness given and confidence shown me by brethren, and with gratitude to the laity for their love for the church and the work of the ministry is this report written.

Marion church has a committee here looking for a pastor.

The evangelistic services are the most interesting meetings held, and their effect is seen in lack of scrambling for appointments so often observed in the conference.

The committee appointed to erect a monument to Rev. Simon H. Alderman reported that a suitable monument had been erected to his memory at Antwerp, Defiance county.

The secretary presented the conference with a bound copy of the conference minutes from organization to the present time.

THE ANGRY BOY.

He has taken his toys and gone home,
And refuses to play any more;
The jack-in-the-box, and the little tin dog,
And the cart that rolled over the floor;
He is pouting, and thinks he's aggrieved,
But truly, what vexes him most
Is to feel 'tis himself who is wrong
In spite of his home-going boast.

He has taken his toys and gone home,
And refuses to play any more;
The old Noah's ark, with its windows cross-barred.
He has flung by the half-opened door;
He has taken the animals out,
And plied them along on the shelf,
And martyr-like, there on his chair,
He mopes and sulks by himself.

He has taken his toys and gone home,
And refuses to play any more;
His quaint wooden soldiers with swords in their hands,
And the red uniforms that they wore,
Are gloomily standing in line,
And hushed is the rub-a-dub drum,
While their juvenile captain near by
Is valiantly chewing his thumb.

He has taken his toys and gone home,
And refuses to play any more;
Well, well, let him go, it was no great surprise,
He threatened to do it before;
His comrades laugh loud by the trees,
And a robin pipes sweet from a spray,
And violets smile from the grass,
While above are the blossoms of May.

LENORE — LOVED, LOST.

In the quiet valley of Cole Creek, shut in by stately mountains, nestled the cloister of Santa Rosa. The situation seemed emblematic—the home with its weirdness and beauty shut out from the world, as was the woman with love and happiness secluded from man.

Under one of the beautiful, grape-clad bowers in the grounds sat a man. He seemed to be a visitor and appeared weary and careworn. The full beard and temples were well sprinkled with white and the brown, hungry eyes looked out from beneath shaggy brows—hungry eyes because ever looking for something that would not come. The form was tall and strong; yet, through the whole man appeared dejection, sorrow and regret.

A noise at the arbor's entrance startled the stranger. He looked up with uninterested face, but the look suddenly changed to one of eager entreaty and the eyes shone. He sprang forward and exclaimed: "My God, Lenore!"

There stood before him only the somber figure of a nun. Her plain dress brought out a beauty of form and a grace of gesture; the black bonnet emphasized the pale, sweet face and sad blue eyes. Her little hands were raised in silent entreaty, and from between the thin, white lips came the words: "No, George, I can not. Do not touch me; I have given myself to the church."

With a shudder the man sank back on the low seat, but the look of intense love and beseeching had moved the heart of the woman. She started forward and touched lightly the hands of the visitor, turned, and would have run from the place, but the man held her arm in passionate frenzy.

"Is this Lenore, the woman for whom I have worked and waited and prayed? And have I lost her? Is it for this that I have shut myself away from the world and have buried the best years of my life? Is it for this that I have won fortune and name?

"Lenore, you have not forgotten when we said good-by—you, in your pure white, standing in the moonlight under the stately old trees of your home. Have you forgotten your promise? Your words were: 'Go, win a name, and I will wait even to eternity for you.'

"Oh, Lenore; these years have been long and hard. I had forgiven you parents' injustice to me. Your love blotted that out. I felt sure that you would some day stand there under those old trees again and welcome back the man, as you had before bidden farewell to the determined but sad-hearted boy. Lenore, what has changed you? Oh, God! I can not endure it. Found, after years of waiting and longing and weary searching—found, but lost!"

His strong arms folded around the shrinking figure, his warm lips pressed kisses long and tender on her lips so used to prayer, his heart beat against a heart still pulsating with love. Sister Aulie, the nun, was for the moment Lenore, the woman.

Freeing herself from the embrace, Sister Aulie turned and ran from the arbor, nor rested until she entered her room. Throwing herself upon her little white bed and fingering the beads of her rosary, she tried to pray. Pray! Could she ever pray again? Could she ever again look into the eyes of the Mother Superior? And yet—"Father, forgive this unholy love."

The bell rang out the hour for evening vespers. Slowly Sister Aulie moved to the quaint old chapel. Tremblingly she knelt during the service, and falteringly her voice arose with the evening anthem. But she kept repeating to herself: "George did not leave me."

That night Sister Aulie laid aside her sacred vows and, as a woman, wrote a letter—a second renunciation of love and life—a forbidden letter; yet, weeks of prayer and penitence would atone. Sister Aulie's heart could endure anything if the woman, Leonore, might be exonerated. This was the letter:

"To-night, Leonore pleads for forgiveness. Ten years after you had gone, father failed, losing name and fortune, which seemed to be the only things that were dear to him, for he afterwards tried to retrieve both by bartering me in marriage to a villain. I refused and was ordered from home. They told me that you were dead. I left, but failed to secure employment. There was no other choice—either eternal shame or eternal loneliness. I chose the latter. I waited long before I took the vows, but you did not come. In my work for others I have in a way, found happiness, but can now never know content. I will remain forever Sister Aulie. Bury your sorrow; I live for others; meet me sometime 'where no hearts break, and no ties sever and no one ever goes away.'"

* * * *

An old man stands by a grave, upon whose headstone is the simple inscription: "Sister Aulie." From this he knows that she confessed and was forgiven.

Little can the passer-by imagine the feelings that the stooping form conceals. Is it the same George who pleaded for love in the old arbor?—who now awaits death to obtain that love in eternity? His has been a life of good deeds and he will be called from labor to reward; from the memory of Sister Aulie to the realization of heaven and "Lenore."—Cincinnati Post.

A DREADFUL SCOURGE.

The Case of Mr. Palmer—Pneumonia Carried Him Off Suddenly—Everyone Should Know the Symptoms and be on Guard.

Mr. Wilton R. Palmer, of New York City, left a circle of friends one afternoon recently, and received their congratulations upon his bright and vigorous appearance. That evening he felt a tickling in the throat, a slight pain across the chest, a chilly sensation, and he coughed once or twice. The next day his nostrils were inflamed, his throat sore, his chest pained him, his bones ached and he felt sore all over. The day following he was in bed, with physicians shaking their heads, and the third day he was dead from pneumonia, which he failed to take in time.

There are ten thousand men and women in America to-day in the same condition as Mr. Palmer when leaving his friends, but they do not know it. The slightest appearance of the symptoms above named should strike terror to any man or woman. A sudden chill means the beginning of pneumonia; aches and pains throughout the body are the first symptoms. It is necessary to bring about a reaction at once. How, then, is the best way of bringing about a reaction? Ask any physician and he will tell you to use pure whiskey. No matter how prejudiced any one may be, pure whiskey at such a time is a necessity, but unfortunately there are few pure whiskies in the world, and in fact there is but one that has received the unqualified endorsement of physicians, chemists and the highest authorities, and that is Duffy's Pure Malt. This remarkable whiskey which is sold by all first-class druggists and grocers, will absolutely check the first approach of pneumonia, while at the same time it is certain to build up the wasted system. It deserves to be kept in every household, not only to be used in cases of emergency, but to assist in prolonging life and bringing health and happiness.

SUMMER LITERATURE.

Miserable Trash Written for Brainless Dudes and Duchess.

As usual at this time of the year the news-stands are crowded with stories of the midsummer variety. The summer novel is a peculiarly American institution, and one of which, as a nation, we need not be proud, says the St. Louis Star Sayings.

The literature concealed within the flashy covers of the paper-bound booklets appeals neither to men nor women. It is evidently written by individuals who are firmly convinced that the average young man of the period is a dude and his sister a flirt. That books of this kind find a ready sale while really meritorious stories are flat failures, from a commercial point of view, is to be regretted.

To a certain extent American authors are responsible for the depraved literary tastes of the summer public. The realism of the Howells-Garland school have flooded the book market with works of a peculiarly depressing nature. They sacrifice the beauties of life to the shadows. Instead of lightening the burden of existence they add to the load by impressing on the reader's mind a gloomy picture calculated to spoil a day's pleasure. A novel without sunshine is not wholesome mental pabulum for the dog days. In a way the novelist is an educator, but he is not called upon to revolutionize the public taste in half a dozen years.

Great reforms have a gradual growth. If some of the progressive authors of our day would for a time condescend to view mankind as it is at present constituted, and write novels partially in keeping with existing social conditions, they could benefit the public as well as add to their fame. Dickens wrought social and political reforms because his writings were entertaining as well as instructive. His pictures of Fleet street prison, for instance, are quite as graphic as those laid before the readers of later-day story-writers. At the same time they are full of humor and genuine pathos, qualities which made them powerful weapons in the hands of reformers.

Hitherto the better class of American authors has had very little to do with the making of summer novels. The inevitable result has been a deterioration in literary taste and the substitution of miserable trash for books teaching morality, charity and true religion. The public is ready, yea, anxious, to meet the producers of good literature half way. Will they, in return, be ready to sacrifice a few of their notions for the public's sake?

COMPLIMENT AND INSULT.

A Delegate Who Could Not Be Bought With Flattery.

Col. Stone, of Tennessee, once told a pretty good thing of a delegate from one of the rural counties to the state convention whom he met there for the first time. The colonel said:

"I am glad to meet you. I have known your father for many years, but never had the pleasure of your acquaintance. I see the son, however, is better looking than the father."

"Look here, colonel," said the delegate, "you need not be flattering me up, for I am out and out for Barksdale for governor, although the old man is for you."

"Why, I simply find you better looking than your father, but I did not say you had half as much sense as he has," returned the colonel.

Those standing around roared with laughter, in which the delegate good naturedly joined. —Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette.

Advice to Mothers of Fretful Babies

828 Huron St., Toledo, O., July 17, '92. Hand Medicine Co., Gentlemen:

My baby is now three months old and has had colic all her life. We gave her all kinds of remedies without any beneficial effect. I was almost discouraged in trying anything else when a friend told me of your Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. I gave her 12 drops which acted like a charm. Now as soon as I discover she has wind colic I give her one or two doses which relieves her entirely. I want to advise all mothers who have fretful babies to use Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. I will hereafter always keep it in the house.

SUITS FOR DAMAGE.

Another Proceeding Against the Normannia.

The Widow of George H. Becker Wants Fifty Thousand From the Steamship Normannia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Suit for $50,000 is to be entered against the Hamburg-American Packet company by the widow of George H. Becker, the wealthy real estate dealer of this city, whose death resulted from exposure aboard the Cepheus.

The circumstances surrounding the case are very touching. Mr. Becker, with his son, 13 years of age, had spent the summer in Europe, and took passage aboard the ill-fated Normannia, first having been assured by the agents in London that the vessel would carry no steerage passengers.

When the Normannia was quarantined and the cabin quarters transferred to the Cepheus Mr. Becker found comfortable quarters for one below. These, however, he gave up to his son, and in doing so sacrificed his own life. He was compelled to walk the deck in the damp night air without even a blanket to cover him, and contracted a cold which speedily developed into pneumonia, and it is the opinion of prominent lawyers that as the agents of the Normannia broke their contract by carrying steerage passengers, among whom the cholera started, there is a good case for the recovery of substantial damages.

THE SUPREME COURT.

An Attorney Who was Disbarred Seeks a Reversal.

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—C. A. Palmer, a Washington C. H. attorney, who was disbarred for alleged unprofessional conduct, has filed in the supreme court a petition in error, asking the reversal of the Fayette county court decision. The court appointed a committee to investigate and file charges against the defendant. It consisted of Messrs. Mills Gardner, John Logan, and oseph Hidy, members of the bar. They reported that Palmer was guilty of collecting various notes and failing to turn over the proceeds to the proper persons. It as also charged that Palmer was guilty of settling a damage case of $5,000 for $2,000, and divided the excess with the counsel for the opposite party.

Attorneys Ong and Hamilton, of Cleveland, appeared as counsel for James C. Morrow in a Montgomery county case. Morrow applies for habeas corpus in a case involving the validity of the city ordinances requiring the payment of a license by jewelry and other itinerant auctioneers. A motion was argued for leave to file a petition in error. Ong and Hamilton are interested in these cases, as they recently had experience in the Sipe case here.

Judge Marvin, of Akron, argued a motion for leave to file a petition in error to the Summit county ciruit court in the case of Nathan M. Beck against the state. Beck was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for perjury, but secured his release upon habeas corpus proceedings after the circuit court had suspended sentence. The judgment of the lower court is now affirmed, and Beck finds himself in jail again.

Attorney General Richards spent the morning in supreme court resisting the motion of Albert Curtis Meyer to file a petition in error. Meyer is serving a second term in the penitentiary from Xenia, this time for shooting to kill. He engaged with a man named Klein in a political argument, during the heat of which he shot him seriously. Meyer is a desperate man and served time before for burglary.

COLORED VOTERS

Run Into Fulton County to Make It Republican.

Pauiding, O., Sept. 30.—There is considerable excitement in political circles of this county over the alleged importation of colored men by the republicans, who are making strenuous efforts to carry the county. Yesterday about 20 got off the train, and claimed that they came direct from Columbus. They will go to work on the vast improvements of the place.

As this work is the greatest ever undertaken here, the democrats and citizens in general are making a big kick over the importation of foreign labor, which will be employed to the exclusion of local workmen. The city council is strongly republican, and have required the contractors to begin work at once, notwithstanding the fact that it is impossible to complete the contract, and will leave the streets in a terrible condition all winter.

CARNEGIE COMING.

He is Eager to Settle the Strike.

Pittsburg, Sept. 30.—It was reported last evening that Andrew Carnegie has written to several prominent men in Pittsburg, expressing a desire that the Homestead strike be settled as soon as possible.

It is also heard from good authority that Mr. Carnegie is on this way to this country, and that even now he may be in New York city.

This news seems to be reliable, his coming having for its sole object the settling of the difficulties with his workmen.

Mr. Frick was seen yesterday, but positively refused to be interviewed, or to permit the reporters to ask any questions.

The officials of the Amalgamated association know nothing of any communication from Mr. Carnegie, nor anything of his coming home. They are not surprised to hear that he desired a settlement.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

A Yard Brakeman Loses His Life Under the Wheels of His Train.

Akron, O., Sept. 30.—James Hartford, a night yard brakeman on the C., A. & C. R. R., met death in a frightful manner. He was standing on the end of a box car, when a sudden stop of the train hurled him to the ground. He was not missed for several minutes. His lantern first attracted attention, and the alarmed train men hastened to the spot. Hartford's body was crushed and bruised beyond recognition, and was wedged tightly between the rails of a switch. The train had passed over him. Hartford's home was in Mansfield, whither his remains will be taken. He was unmarried, but leaves a mother and brother in that city. About a week ago he took out a life insurance policy in favor of his mother.

GARRETT IN THE MOUNTAINS.

The Railroad President Having a High Old Time.

New York, Sept. 30.—Advices from Paris say that Mr. Robert Garrett, formerly president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and whose mental affections compelled his withdrawal from the cares of business life, is having a great time of it in the Austrian Alps, and is managing to create considerable of a sensation. He is traveling with a large party, heading it himself with a five horse drag driven tandem. The party has so far traversed considerable territory and is now on its way to Venezia by way of the Inn Valley.

TO REMAIN IN NEW YORK.

New York, Sept. 30.—Mr. Cleveland, it is announced, will not return to Buzzards Bay except to bring his family back to the city, which he will do as soon as his house can be put in readiness to receive them.

Mr. W. C. Whitney told a reporter of the United Press this morning that he had received a letter from Mr. Cleveland to the effect that he would remain permanently when he comes.

Mr. Cleveland will stay at the Victoria hotel until his house at 12 Fifty-third street is ready.

SECOND ROUND.

Springfield Preachers Try Rushing Tactics

Springfield, O., Sept. 30—The law and order people burst out afresh in their efforts to stop the Geraghty-McHugh prize fight. Oct ber 6. Rev. Fred G. Goswald, pastor of the Fifth Lutheran church, and a young business man worth $25,000 as well, filed an affidavit in common pleas court charging Geraghty with being in training for a prize fight.

QUARANTINE WAR.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—The shipping interests have inaugurated a war against the board of health, owing to the long detention of vessels in quarantine.

BIG SUITS.

The Crew of the Pizzati Want Damages.

New Orleans, Sept. 30.—Fifteen of the crew and one of the passengers of the steamship Pizzati will bring suit in the federal court to-day for $160,000 damages against the steamship's owners. During the revolution in Honduras the vessel was hired by that government and changed into an armed cruiser.

She aided materially in putting an end to the trouble in Honduras. She shipped her crew in this city and also took over a passenger. The crew assert that upon arriving in Honduras waters they discovered that Pizzati was an armed crusier.

They also declared that they were only engaged for the round trip but that they were compelled to bear arms and use them. All who refused to do as directed by the officers were put in irons and otherwise maltreated.

A DUTY ON WHEAT.

England About to Make a New Move.

A Tariff To Be Put on the Product of the American Farmer.

New York, Sept. 30.—Col. W. R. Nelson, editor and proprietor of the Kansas City Star, made the statement this morning at democratic headquarters that when parliament again convened in England a bill will be introduced for putting a duty on American wheat. He says pamphlets have been circulated in England advising the measure.

THE WABASH ELECTION.

Some Comment by the Railway Age

New York, Sept. 30.—The Railway Age gives the following bit of inside history of the election of directors of the Wabash Railroad company, held in St. Louis, September 13: "The Goulds had laid legal plans in St. Louis on the eve of the Wabash election for the purpose of contesting the right of debenture bondholders to vote at the stockholders' meeting.

"A petition was filed in the circuit court in behalf of Mr. George Gould seeking a restraining order, and the writ would have been presented at the meeting, but for the fact that the Wabash attorney intimated in advance that no contest was necessary as no answer would be put in.

"The ticket was then changed, substituting the name of Jay Gould for James Foy, of Detroit, and everything went through harmoniously in the Gould interest. The voice of the debenture bondholders in the Wabash election is a condition of the reorganization, and it operates smoothly so long as all interests pull together, but it is liable at any time to form a bone of contention.

"As the Goulds hold some of the debenture bonds, the restraining order would have operated against a part of their own votes, but it would also have disqualified a very large number of votes of the other side."

COME, REPUBLICANS; PAY UP.

Fifteen Men Who Might Have Learned Something From Anna Dickinson.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 30.—Fifteen men who worked at the Woodsdale island meeting, at which Whitelaw Reid was given the cold shoulder, stood about the Grand Hotel awaiting H. A. Gardner, state organizer of the Ohio republican league. They wanted pay promised them for their services.

When Gardner failed to appear they grew uneasy and some pretty plain talk was indulged in. Then they called at Gardner's home and were told that he was out of town. They began an investigation and were told that Gardner owes the Grand hotel, and also that he has failed up to date to settle with the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad.

The men held an indignation meeting and decided to make a final demand on the state republican league. If the money is not forthcoming then some sensational lawsuits will be entered.

POOR DUMB BRUTES.

One Hundred and Twenty Sheep Cremated in a Car.

Van Wert, O., Sept. 30.—A very unusual occurrence happened on the Mackinaw railroad at Ohio City. After the northbound local freight left Celina an axle became heated and set fire to the car, which was loaded with sheep. The fire was not noticed until the train reached Ohio City, when it was almost entirely enveloped in flames, and nothing could be done toward saving the car or sheep. The crew had barely time to uncouple the car. The car, together with its burden of 120 sheep, were entirely consumed. The burning of the sheep was a most sickening sight.

STILL IN THE CAVE-IN.

Wives of the Entombed Miners Almost Insane.

Bessemer, Mich., Sept. 30.—At 8 o'clock last night the men caught in the cave-in were still entombed and their fellow-workmen were working with might and main for their rescue.

Capt. Suthe, of the mine, is certain that the cave-in has not molested the room in which the entombed miners are supposed to be and that they are safe.

Hundreds of men, women and children were gathered about the shaft-house, eagerly waiting for news of the men below. The wives of Johnson, Thompson and the two Denshaws were at the mouth of the pit, and the grief and fearful suspense had well nigh driven them insane.

HELD THEM UP.

Plucky Highwayman in the Western Mountains.

Denver, Col., Sept. 30.—The Spar City stage was held up about 20 miles from Crede by a lone highwayman, armed and masked. He made the dozen passengers pass by him in single file and disgorge the contents of their pockets.

From the driver, Marsh Pemberton, he secured $160. The mail pouch was rifled, but as no registered matter was found the robber tossed it back.

When this job was completed all the passengers were ordered into the stage and the driver told to get out as fast as the four horses would run if he valued his life.

When the stage arrived at Crede a posse was organized, but no trace of the bold desperado has been secured.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Leadville, Col., Sept. 30.—One thousand pounds of dynamite, standing on the depot platform at Busk station on the Colorado Midland railroad, exploded shortly after midnight this morning and completely wrecked the depot. A pullman sleeper on the sidetrack was badly damaged and the track was considerably torn up. No one was injured. The loss will not exceed $1,500.

RHEUMATISM PREVALENT.
Caused by the Sudden Changes of Temperature.
PEOPLE WHO HAVE FOUND RELIEF.
Rheumatism is more prevalent here than ever before.
When this disease fastens upon an individual with its soreness and pain, swelling the joints, rendering him helpless in his movements, and shattering his usefulness, he is indeed an object of pity.
The slight pain in the back, pain or stiffness of the joints or muscles, is a warning indication of an improvished condition of the blood, a low state of health, and if not attended to at once, means rheumatism.
Rheumatism can now be relieved and cured.
Since the introduction of Favorite Remedy, by Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., there has been fewer sufferers than ever before.
Favorite Remedy drives out rheumatic poison from the blood, restores the circulation, strengthens the nerve power.
The best proof of its value is the good it has done.
"I was afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism for fifteen years, writes Mr. E. F. Tayer, of East Nassau, N. Y. So severe that I was supposed to be a cripple for life. Under physicians treatment I grew worse. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy helped me from the time I first used it, and entirely cured me. Have felt no trace of the disease since, and that was three years ago."
The beautiful daughter of Mr. James Mc Farland, of DeMoines, Ia., was helpless for months with sciatic rheumatism. After a few doses of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, she began to grow better, appetite improved, slept well, and continuing its use, was cured.
"I was confined to my bed with rheumatism near my heart, writes Mr. C. L. Seaver, of Birmingham, Conn., and used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy but a short while before it drove the rheumatism out of my system."
Mr. G. Lansing, of Troy, N. Y., had rheumatism so bad that he had to be turned over in bed. After using Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy but a short while was restored to health.
What reason then for suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia. This medicine will help you if given a trial.

PERPETUAL MOTION.

Insurmountable Obstacles in the Way of Making An Ideal Machine.

The reply to the question, Is perpetual motion possible? depends entirely upon the limitations put upon the term "perpetual motion." If we understand these words to mean a machine that would start itself, furnish powder for doing work and continue in operation so long as required or until worn out, without the assistance of any external agency, the Scientific American thinks we may say with the utmost confidence perpetual motion is impossible. If, on the other hand, we define perpetual motion as a machine dependent for its action upon the variability of one or more of the forces of nature, we may say perpetual motion is possible. The thermal motor, in which expansion and cotraction are produced by natural changes of temperature, is an example of a motor of this kind. In this machine the changes in volume in a body are made to store energy to be used in continuous regular work. A perpetual clock has been made on this principle.

Sun motors of various forms have been devised which might be used in connection with storage mechanism for furnishing power continuously. A sun motor of sufficient size with a suitable storage system could furnish power the year around in almost any part of the world, success being a question of hours of sunshine and capacities of motor and storage system. Of course, what is said with regard to the sun motor applies with equal force to water wheels, wind-mills, tide and wave motors. Without doubt all of these prime movers will come more and more into use as time advances and storage systems are perfected. Still they do not satisfy the seeker for the ideal perpetual motion. This should fill the conditions first mentioned; but, as we have already said, this is an impossibility. The first and strongest reason for making this positive assertion in regard to the ideal perpetual motion is found in the fact that never in the history of man has he been able to make a single atom of matter or create the smallest fraction of a unit of energy.

All the works of man, of whatever name or nature, have been constructed of materials already in existence, and all the work done by man and his enginery has been accomplished by using current natural forces, such as the gravitation of water, the power of the wind and the heat energy of the sun, or the stored energy of coal and other fuels, or of chemicals. Having the command of some of nature's forces, inventors have sought to circumvent nature's laws so as to make water "run up hill," to cause masses of matter to act alternately in accordance with and in opposition to the law of gravitation; in short, to deprive matter of gravity while ascending, and to cause it to act with the full force of gravity while descending.

Among perpetual motion devices of th's class, proposed and tried, is the one having weights arranged on a wheel in such a way as to fall outwardly and increase the leverage on one side of the wheel, while they fold in and diminish the leverage on the opposite side of the wheel. This machine, it is needless to say, has never moved on its own account, although it has become classic. In this device superior number of weights on the side where the leverage is the least exactly balances the weights at the ends of the extended arms. This is true of all the modifications of this type of machine.

Although the efforts of inventors in this direction have been barren of results of the kind aimed at, yet their labor has not been fruitless; many experimenters who considered actual trial better than any amount of study or calculation have learned that "knowledge comes of experience," and while discovering the fallacy of the ideal perpetual motion they have been led to consider more practical subjects, making inventions which have proved more beneficial to the world and profitable to themselves. If the inventor of machines intended to be self-moving will not accede to Newton's statement that "action and reaction are equal and opposite" (third law of motion), and that there is a perfect and wonderful balance in the forces of nature, let him thoroughly acquaint himself with the principles of physics, and he will ere long be able to say with certainty just how the balance will occur in any and every perpetual motion machine of the ideal kind and admit that he has not the power of creating energy.

EXCOMMUNICATED BARONESS.

She Recants Her Error Because of Love for Her Excommunicator.

The death of the Baroness Beszcy, which was reported by cable from Olmutz a few days ago, recalls the incident of her quarrel with the cardinal prince of Fuerstenberg and her subsequent excommunication by him, says the New York World. This extreme punishment was inflicted because of the exhibition by her repeatedly of eccentricities that to the mind of the cardinal were of a questionable character. The baroness, who came of a powerful family and who was in her own right one of the richest landowners in the archdioces of Olmutz, at first defied the cardinal, and many tradesmen and others would not observe the boycott decreed against her. The unpopularity of the cardinal helped the spirited baroness in her contest, and for a long time Olmutz was divided into hostile factions, one side following strictly the commands of the cardinal, while the other was loyal and devoted to the baroness. The end was the usual one, however, in such cases, except that the motive of the repentant baroness was far from what it was at first supposed to have been. In a most public manner the Baroness Beszcy recanted her error and bowed in submission before the altar at the feet of the cardinal. This sudden conversion astonished both friend and foe, but it was ascribed to religious feeling until it became known that it was really due to her desire to secure the cardinal's personal friendship and to a suddenly formed admiration for his personal charms, for he was one of the handsomest and most courtly of men. The baroness' admiration for the cardinal became so demonstrative that he was forced to have her confined in an ecclesiastical refuge, where she remained for several years, and when she finally emerged from her retirement she seemed to have forgotten her earlier life, and even that the cardinal prince of Fuerstenberg had ever lived. It is a rather strange coincidence that the cardinal died less than a week previous to the death of the baroness, who had reached a great age.

CONVERSATION OF CROWS.

How a Competent Boston Authority Spreads Enlightenment Thereupon.

A good many days spent in berrying, gardening, loafing, and such like profitable employments in the country have convinced the Listener, says the Boston Transcript, of the perfect truth of the theory that crows have a complete language of their own—or at least an elaborate code of signals, in which one sort of sound always stands for one thing, and another sound for another thing, and so on. Whenever a crow, flying over a wood, sees a man somewhere below, he always utters a peculiar and particularly gutteral cry, which is answered in the same tone by other crows within hearing. This cry means "A man down here!" as plainly as anything could mean it. You will never hear exactly the same word under any other circumstances. The Indians often detected an ambush, or became aware that a solitary enemy or pursued person lurked in a certain spot, through this tell-tale cry of the crows. The crows have certain other words which you will learn to distinguish perfectly if you hear them often enough. There is a certain short, sharp, high, very explosive "Ha! Ha! Ha!" which the listener would say meant "play," because it is oftenest heard when the crows seem to be gyrating about in the air for mere pleasure. You hear one fellow, sitting in the dead top of a hemlock tree, call out his "Ha! Ha! Ha!" Another answers "Ha! Ha! Ha!" from some upland pasture, and in a minute they are swinging playfully together away up in the air. Take a lot of them together in a tree, and they chatter and squawk, and cluck, and babble in a way entirely suggestive of continuous and free conversation. And their love-making notes are simply irresistible.

GIVEN TOO MANY OPPORTUNITIES

"I tell you," he said emphatically, "something has got to be done or the so-called business men of this age will wreck the country. "It's an outrage, sir, an outrage upon honest men that the scamps should be given the opportunity that they are given under the present system."

"What's the matter now?" the excited man was asked.

"Matter, sir? matter?" he exclaimed. "Why you can't tell whom you can trust You find a man in a responsible position, respected and looked up to by society, and before you have time to say to yourself, 'He's all right,' he's cheated you in a horse trade or skipped out with some trust funds. You can't trust anyone, sir. They're all looking for a chance to get the best of you, and they don't care how they do it. Look at the case of the 'Steenth Street bank! Solid as a rock yesterday, and to-day its doors are closed. It's a swindle, sir, a downright swindle!—Detroit Free Press.

BIGGEST LION IN CAPTIVITY.

William Penn Is His Name, and He Is at the Philadelphia Zoo.

The largest, noblest lion in captivity reached the Zoological garden, Philadelphia, a few days ago, and is ready to receive callers. A great healthy, formidable-looking beast he is, curiously enough christened William Penn. The big fellow was captured in South Africa when a cub, a couple of hunters killing his parents. He was bought in Liverpool by the zoological society. Thus Wm. Penn, who is now the largest lion in captivity, was obtained for the amusement and instruction of mankind. He has had an eventful career. He has made the grand tour of Europe, has been admired by millions of people, from crowned heads to beggars, has been able, notwithstanding the thick iron bars that shut him off from liberty, to slaughter six keepers and 11 would-be trainers. To-day he occupies the star cage of the Fonhouse of the zoo, and the Record says the beautiful young lioness, whose apartment adjoins his own, has already begun to cast in his direction glances by no means unfavorable.

Wm. Penn, who had not then been christened, was shipped to the Philadelphia Zoological garden three weeks ago by Cross, the famous animal dealer of Liverpool. He crossed the ocean on the steamer Turic and reached his destination after an uneventful voyage that was troubled with but little seasickness, on Tuesday last. He was confined in a large wooden box with an iron-barred front, and when this box was taken off a freight train at the Zoological garden depot and placed upon a dray the two draft-horses became almost frantic with fear. Wm. Penn only made them worse by opening his cavernous jaws and emitting roar after roar. The horses were finally quieted by Head Keeper Byrne, who received, however, several bites and kicks before the operation was accomplished, and the wagon was then drawn into the garden, attended by a large and curious throng of citizens.

The lion was transferred from the box into the cage without the slightest difficulty. First the cage door of the box was placed against it and also opened, and thus a direct connection established between the two. Wm. Penn at first declined to move, but the famous Byrne, who is ever fertile of resource, procured a large chunk of horseflesh, which he threw into the cage. Then the lion entered, the door was closed, the wooden box removed, and the lion began an imprisonment that will end only with his death.

Although Wm. Penn, being but 6 years of age, has not yet attained full growth, he measures 10 feet 6 inches from nose to tail and stands 44 inches in height at the soulder. He is as yet very thin, weighing only 300 pounds, but his leanness is the result of confinement in the cramped wooden box in which he traversed the Atlantic. When the weather gets a little cooler he will be fed about 18 pounds of meat daily, which sumptuous diet will soon round off the angles of his vast and powerful frame. He is fully a foot longer than the average leonine length and six inches taller than the average height. His roar is something terrible. When he gives it all the other noises of the zoo sink into insignificance. His value is about $1,500, although this is not the sum for which he was bought. With proper care it is expected that he will live to the good old age of 20 years.

FEWER PEOPLE, MORE WEALTH

What Recent Returns Show Regarding the Condition of Ireland.

So much is said and written about "poor old Ireland" it is refreshing to learn that the Irish census returns, only recently made public, are quite satisfactory. To be sure they show a continued decrease in population, but increased resources. The ratable valuation shows a gain from £13,812,000 in 1881 to £14,034,000 in 1891. There is not as much land in crops as there was during the preceding decade, but, the New York World says, there is an increased acreage of grass and a considerable gain in the number of cattle, swine, asses and poultry. Within ten years the hens have increased by nearly a million and a half. There is a handsome increase, too, in the amount of savings bank deposits. These figures, of course, have come through English hands, and some points that might not reflect much credit upon the ruling class are very likely not brought out very clearly. The population in the ten years decreased from 5,174,836 to 4,704,750, and while it is pleasant to know, or at least to hope, that those left in Ireland are better off than they were ten years ago, still one cannot help believing Ireland is rich enough in natural resources and strong enough in the genius, enterprise and industry of her people to support in comfort a considerably larger population than she now has, provided political conditions were such that she could do her best. The Ireland of 40 years ago, however, was too densely populated. In 1847 the estimated population was 9,500,000. The country is but a little larger than the state of Maine, having an area of 32,713 square miles, while Maine has about 31,000. Yet even now Ireland's population is about the same as that of all New England.

FROM COAL MINE TO HAREM.

How a French Peasant Girl Became the Sultan's Favorite.

Here is a little romance in real life which I am inclined to think would be hard to beat. There was a few years ago a very beautiful girl working in the coal mines of France. Some charitable person, struck no doubt by the girl's wonderful beauty, found her a situation in a famous dressmaking establishment in Paris, where her superior intelligence soon made her a favorite with the "madame," says a correspondent of the Leeds Mercury.

She was at last sent to Constantinople with some dresses which had been ordered by the sultan's mother, and from that time nothing was heard of her for many years. She might, perhaps, have faded out of their memory, had not a relative died and left her a small inheritance. Notices were then published asking for her whereabouts.

In answer to these a splendid equipage drew up in front of the embassy, and the sultan's favorite wife stepped out to declare herself the one-time Flora Collin. She renounced the legacy in favor of her kindred, who were still poor, and, in reply to many inquiries, she explained that it was the old story of love at first sight between the sultan and the beautiful modiste.

LIFE'S FITFUL HAY FEVER.

"I thought you knew better than to say 'had saw.'"
"I do, sir."
"Didn't I hear you say it just now?"
"Hardly!"
"I surely did."
"Where?"
"Here. Not a minute ago."
"I said 'had saw.'"
"You did."
"Shaw!"
"Do you deny it?"
"Of course I do."
"Confound you, don't you suppose I know when I hear a man say 'had saw?'"
"Confound you, can't you tell whed a bad's bot a cold id his head? I was talkigg about a hadd-saw, blabe you!"—Chicago Tribune.

A TRAGEDY NARROWLY AVERTED

"I'll shoot myself, false maid!" he said,
By jealous frenzy goaded.
He placed the pistol to his head—
The weapon wasn't loaded.

A BUSINEES TRANSACTION.

Notebroker—Let me see, dear; what is the date of the wedding?
His Fiance—October 7, sweet.
Notebroker—Ah, yes, and three days of grace will bring it to the 10th, love.—Judge.

The last census shows that while 33,168 lawyers received $35,000,000 every year in fees, 37,000 ministers get only $6,000,000.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY

In Wheat, and Estimated Crop and Price For Eleven Years.

The following exhibits the visible supply of wheat, and the crop for 11 years, and the price of wheat here, September 29, each year:

Sept.	Vis. Supply. bus.	price.	Est. Crop. bus.
24, 1892	44,962,000	75	.....
26, 1891	26,862,000	98	611,000,000
27, 1890	16,830,000	98	399,262,000
28, 1889	17,853,000	82	490,560,000
29, 1888	31,510,000	100	414,868,000
Oct.
1, 1887	30,596,000	75 1-2	456,329,000
2, 1886	51,220,000	77 1-4	457,218,000
3, 1885	43,633,000	94	357,112,000
4, 1884	26,251,000	78 3-4	512,763,000
6, 1883	28,523,000	96 1-2	420,154,000
7, 1882	13,946,000	105	459,480,000

Comment—It will be seen by above that our present visible supply is the largest in 11 years, save in 1886. The present price is the lowest in the 11 years at this date, but prices have not always been governed by a larger or limited production as in 1887, 1886 and 1882. As a matter of curiosity we state that the average price for 11 years, September 29, is 89c. But averages commonly prove nothing, as each year has its peculiar conditions. The present low price is undoubtedly due to the unprecedented movement of the surplus from farmers' hands, with large stocks abroad remaining from the importations of the crop of 1891.—Secretary Smith's Produce Exchange Circular.

BOGUS BONUS.

Columbus' Dust Now Placed on the Market.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 30.—Mr. Fred A. Ober, exposition commissioner of the United States to the West Indies in the interest of the world's fair, has received a letter from a New York man asking his aid in disposing of a pinch of the dust of the remains of Christopher Columbus from Santo Domingo. He vouches for its genuineness. According to this Mr. Ober thinks there must be two sets of remains of Columbus, for a year ago last July he was conducted with great ceremony to and through the cathedral of Santo Domingo and the discovered remains were then brought out for his inspection. These remains are jealously guarded, there being three keys to the casket in which they are held. One is in the possession of the president of the republic, one is held by the archbishop and one by the chief of the local council.

Emanuel Swedenborg's "Arcana Calestia" was printed when the author was 61.

DIED IN A CELL.

Sudden and Peculiar Death of a New York Dentist.

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The dentist, F. C. Bronson, in whose office V. Jenks died while under the influence of chloroform about two weeks ago, was found dead in a cell at the station house this morning.

It seems that Bronson has worried about the matter ever since the occurrence and has been drinking some. Last evening, as the report goes to-day, his mind did not seem to be right and his wife had so much trouble with him that she called on Dr. Clute for help.

The two being unable to control him the police were telephoned for and he was taken to the police station where he was placed in a cell. This was toward morning. About 7 o'clock he was seen lying asleep, breathing properly.

At 8:30 the janitor, going his rounds, seeing he was in a different position, with his mouth open in a peculiar manner, called the chief's attention and on opening the cell he was found dead. It is supposed that he had taken poison. The coroner is investigating.

TRAFALGAR SQUARE.

Meetings May Be Held in This Place.

A Vexing Question Settled Without Any Trouble.

London, Sept. 30.—Home Secretary Asquith has solved a problem by which the enemies of the government hoped that the would be greatly embarrassed. At the recent meeting the social democrats unanimously resolved that it is desired to reassert the historic right of public meeting in Trafalgar square, and that a demonstration should be organized for Sunday, November 13, to be held in the square.

The person who proposed this resolution suggested a parallel between London and Ireland in the matter of public meetings comparing the policy of Mr. Matthews in the matter of Trafalgar square to that of Mr. Balfour in relation to nationalist demonstrations.

Another speaker repudiating any desire to make use of the square for public meetings at times when the assembly of a crowd seriously interfere with business traffic, claimed for the people of London the right to decide for themselves when a meeting should be permissable. He added an assurance that the members of the federation were quite determined to hold the proposed meeting and "would not be influenced by what anybody else said."

The tories hoped that this would put Mr. Asquith in a dilemma, but to-day it was announced that the home secretary had decided to permit meetings in Trafalgar square during times of political and social crisis, and that the home office would shortly issue by-laws on the subject.

LYING IN STATE.

Gen. Husted's Remains Are Viewed by Many People.

His Faithful Servant Stays by His Master's Casket.

Peekskill, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Gen. Husted's remains lay in state here from 9 o'clock until 11 this morning. The ground around the residence was guarded by a detail of police.

The body lay in a handsome rosewood casket which was placed in the hall. Those who wished to view the remains passed in at the river side of the house and out the rear. At the head of the casket sat Sam, the colored servant of the late general.

James K. Apgar, who was clerk of the house under Mr. Husted, when the latter held the office of spekaer, assisted by a number of others, had charge of the arrangements this morning.

Quite a large number of citizens had reviewed the remains up to 11 o'clock. There are no mourning emblems about the house, crape being entirely absent from the door. In its stead is a large wreath of holly and violets suspended from the door bell.

SPAIN'S VINTAGE

Is All Right, but Some of the Other Crops Are Short.

London, Sept. 30.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says that the vintage of Spain is in a very promising condition, which makes growers more than ever anxious for a renewal of the treaties of commerce, especially with England, France and Germany. It is an open secret that they still have a part of last year's vintage on hand.

The olive crop has been much damaged by heat and hailstones, hence the rise in the price of olive and olive oil.

Wheat and other cereals are under the average and Spain will be obliged to import several million hectrolitres. The estimated deficiency in value is four million pounds.

SMUGGLER FOILED

And Obliged to Leave a Cargo of Opium Outside of the United States.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—H. C. Adams, of Honolulu, who arrived here a few days ago, says the smuggler Haleyon landed her cargo of opium at Diamond Head, Honolulu.

The Haleyon sailed from Victoria about a month ago with a cargo of opium and a number of Chinese.

She attempted to land the Chinese near Monterey, Cal., but they were captured by customs officers. The Haleyon could not land her opium in the United States owing to the vigilance of the officers and so took it to Honolulu.

Baltimore, Sept. 30.—The deadlock in the First district congressional convention at Easton made to nominate a successor to Congressman Henry Page, was broken at noon to-day.

SUICIDED IN CHURCH.

Driven to Death by Pain From Neuralgia.

The Suicide Shoots Himself While Sitting in the Pew He Occupied in the Church.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—An investigation was made by Coroner Ashbridge to-day into the suicide of John W. Donnelly, aged 55 years, a shoe dealer at 1438 Frankford avenue, who fired two bullets into his stomach while sitting in the pew of the East Baptist church, which he had occupied while living.

Donnelly was a severe sufferer from neuralgia, which drove him frantic at times. Yesterday the suffering man walked into the church at Hanover street and Girard avenue and finding the doors open, entered. Sitting down in the pew he fired the fatal bullet.

Workmen who were working on the church rushed to the scene and found the suicide just expiring. The dead man leaves a widow and three children. He was prominently identified with the Grand Army of the Republic, having been chaplain of Newhall post, No. 7.

WOULD NOT PEACH.

The Life Guards Take a Lecture but are Still Sullen.

London, Sept. 30.—Major General, the Hon. Paul Sanford Methuen, addressed the First Life Guards at Windsor to-day. Lord Methuen inspected and drilled the men and found them obedient and well disciplined. But when it came to endeavoring to obtain an acknowledgement from them of the proceedings of Saturday, Gen. Methuen met with failure.

He said he would advise those who had been guilty of destroying equipments to confess the fact, and he would treat their acts merely as insubordination; but if they should fail to confess, he would have to proceed on the graver charge of mutiny. He would give them five minutes, he declared, to consider what they would do. The five minutes passed but not a soldier spoke. The men were sent back to their quarters and Gen. Methuen will now report the affair to the commander-in-chief, the Duke of Cambridge.

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

Of Five Men in a Small Sail Boat.

Lost on Lake Huron in a Terrific Gale —Miraculous Escape.

Cheboygan, Mich., Sept. 30.—Two Detroit traveling men, J. R. O'Neal and W. P. Baillie, and H. Jung, of Milwaukee, had a terrible experience on Lake Huron Saturday and Sunday. They started for Rogers City in a small sailboat, in charge of two sailors, and it got dark before they reached 40-mile point. Having no compass, the crew got mixed and the boat was carried out into mid-lake by the furious gale, and they were out for 28 hours in all of Saturday night and Sunday's gale, turning up at Spectacle reef light and finally landing safely Sudnay night. They had to bail out the boat constantly for 12 hours. Jung represents a Milwaukee liquor house and his samples are all that kept life in the party.

MISSING MONEY.

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 30.—At a meeting of the French department of the Order of the Helping Hand, last evening, there was much adverse criticism of the grand officers of the order and charges were made that the benefit fund had been so handled by them that neither its amount nor its whereabouts is known; that fifty per cent. of it, which was supposed to be deposited with the state treasurer, has not been so deposited and that $4,000 of the recent special assessment has not been accounetd for.
